Drama At City Crossing

Train Halts Before Crash

Between the cab and trailer of this rig that stalled on the Broadway crossing Wednesday afternoon can be seen the locomotive of a 112-car freight that was halted just 100 yards short of a collision.

The rig, owned by Erskine's Dump Trailer Service, Inc., of Lowellville, was tied up helplessly across the tracks about 2 p. m. with its front wheels in a deep ditch on the north side of the right-of-way.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. freight, en route from Conway to Columbus, was due to roar through downtown East Liverpool any moment.

The Pennsy's Yellow Creek control tower notified Engineer Ralph Raver of Columbus via radio-telephone, allowing him to halt the train just short of the crossing. The train was a half-mile from the crossing when Raver received the message.

A pinpoint of light from the locomotive's headlamp can be seen between the wrecked rig's cab and trailer. The train was halted just west of the Chester Bridge.

The driver said his dump trailer was loaded with fluorospar being hauled from the Milliron Co. to a steel mill, where it is used for purification purposes. The fuel line broke when the rig wrecked on the crossing.

Conferees Finish Work On $11.5 Billion Tax Cut

Only Final Formalities Needed Now

Congress To Speed Compromise Bill To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $11.5-billion tax cut, largest in the nation's history, is ready for the final formalities expected to put more money into the pockets of 80 million American taxpayers by mid-March.

Senate and House conferees completed work on the 400-page measure Wednesday. The House is expected to pass the compromise bill next Tuesday, with Senate action coming either the same day or next Wdenesday. Little opposition is anticipated.

President Johnson is then expected to sign the bill early the following week. The first effects of the bill will come in reduced withholding of taxes in paychecks dated eight days after the measure is signed—either March 11 or 12.

The reductions average about 19 per cent of present individual taxes. Rates for some 550,000 corporations are also being cut.

Conference agreement climaxed a solid year of concentrated work in rewriting dozens of provisions in the U.S. tax code.

House hearings began on the bill in February last year, just after the late President John F. Kennedy asked Congress for a massive tax cut to try to solve many of the nation's economic problems.

Johnson followed his predecessor in putting the tax cut measure at the top of his legislative agenda along with civil rights.

The reductions are expected by the administration to provide a stimulus aimed at boosting the 1964 economy and providing healthy long-run effects on unemployment and other problems.

The new withholding rate is

Diplomats Sift Cyprus Peace Plans

Britain Flying In 2,000 More Troops To Turbulent Isle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats negotiated privately today on proposals to keep the peace in Cyprus as Britain began flying nearly 2,000 more troops to the eastern Mediterranean island.

Security Council debate on the Cyprus crisis was in recess until Friday afternoon, and there were no sure prospects for agreement on proposals for an international force to take over enforcement of the shaky cease-fire between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson called on the council Wednesday to endorse a Western proposal to bolster the British troops on Cyprus with soldiers from other nations.

Seeking to avoid Soviet intrusion into the dispute, Stevenson pointedly added that composition of the force would require the approval of Cyprus and her three guarantors under the 1960 independence treaties — Britain, Turkey and Greece.

Stevenson also urged the council to call on Cyprus and her three protectors to designate U.N. Secretary-General U Thant as an impartial mediator.

The U.S. delegate spoke after Chief Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko charged the 1960 treaties had been imposed on Cyprus and denounced the British force as a Western plot to establish a North Atlantic Treaty Organization bridgehead in the eastern Mediterranean.

Legal Duelling Continues On Selecting Ruby Jury

BULLETIN

DALLAS (AP) — Five more prospective jurors in the Jack Ruby murder case were dismissed for cause in rapid order today. This brought to 21 the total of jury candidates who have been rejected. Candidate No. 22 was excused because of illness.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Legal duelling over selection of a jury for Jack Ruby's murder trial goes into the third day today, intensified by new defense contentions that 12 impartial jurors cannot be found in Dallas.

Not a juror has been accepted from the first 16 persons questioned.

In the record is a dramatic plea by Melvin M. Belli, chief defense counsel for Ruby, to move the trial to some other city in Texas.

In urging Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown to grant his motion, Belli said:

"You can't find a city with finer men of integrity than in Dallas. They are men of family, men of God, men of the church. They are willing to do their civic duty."

But, he argued, "so much has happened here," that it is difficult for such men to do this civil duty conscientiously.

Brown overruled the motion.

Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas, two days after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated here. Oswald had been charged with murdering the president. Ruby is charged with murder with malice and the state will demand the death penalty.

Belli's renewed plea for a change of venue came during questioning of Hugh O'Neal Dancer, an accountant.

Dancer said he had formed an opinion about Ruby's guilt or innocence after seeing a rerun of the televised scene of the shooting.

"I would try to lay it aside if I am selected as a juror," he said, "but as to what effect my subconscious feelings would have, I just can't say."

Belli shook hands with Dancer and said, "I want to thank you."

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade, asked whether he believes the defense is trying to obtain a jury in Dallas, replied, "No, I do not."

He told reporters the defense lawyers think Judge Brown will transfer the case from Dallas "if they carry out the trial long enough."

6 Are Injured In 2 Mishaps On Icy Roads

5 In 2 Cars Hurt, Truck Driver Other Victim Of Crash

Snow - slick roads were blamed for two district accidents which injured six persons — five in the same mishap at Rock Camp — Wednesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Mrs. Betty Williams, 37, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was in "fair" condition at City Hospital with injuries suffered in the crash on Route 30 at Rock Camp yesterday afternoon at 1:20.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, John R. Williams, 40, who was headed north when his car was rammed head - on by another driven by James W. Allen, 27, of Helena, Ark.

The patrol said Allen lost control of his car and slid left of center into the path of the other vehicle.

Williams was treated for bruises of the ribs and abrasions of the face. His wife suffered a laceration of the knee and a fractured left arm.

Allen was treated for a cut of the lip and lacerations of the legs. His wife, Rosalie, 18, suffered abrasions of the forehead, and another passenger, John Northern, 44, of Mansfield, was treated for abrasions of the skull and cuts of the forehead.

Allen was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe road conditions.

Joseph Hiram Cornell, 49, of 172 Montana Ave., Chester, was treated at the hospital for injuries suffered when his tractor - trailer truck overturned after striking a tree along Route 30 yesterday afternoon about a mile east of Hanoverton.

Cornell, headed west, lost control of the rig on a curve, went off the right side of the road and hit a tree. The trailer

Auto Ditches, Hurting Girls, Young Driver

Two 17-year-old East Liverpool girls were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Wednesday night when the car in which they were riding backed into a ditch on Park Way about 800 feet north of Pennsylvania Ave. The 17-year-old driver was hurt less seriously.

Hospitalized were: Miss Patricia Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, 1039 Vine St., who suffered a neck injury, and Miss Linda Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tucker, 100 Center St., Beechwood, who suffered a possible back injury.

The driver, Ronald W. Allison, 1534 Globe St., was released after treatment for contusions of the left forehead.

Allison was driving a 1956 sedan registered to Vernon Allison of the same East End address, police said.

The youth told police he was headed north on Park Way when an oncoming car crowded him off the street and almost into a ditch. He said he tried to back away from the scene and had gone 5 to 10 feet when the auto went into a ditch. There was possible damage to the undercarriage of the car, police said.

Skids were blamed for two other mishaps on the "Hill Rd." stretch of Pennsylvania Ave. Wednesday.

Accumulation Of Snow Rises Despite Cold

Schools In Hancock Close; Wellsville's, City System Reopen

Colder weather was supposed to cut off further snow but there was more today to add to the accumulation from the 24-hour storm that blanketed the area under an average of about 9 inches. The fall ranged from 7 to over 10 inches.

Most of the snow hit Tuesday night but its continued virtually all day Wednesday, tapering to flurries last night, then resuming this morning. The forenoon fall, with dense squalls at time, was light, however. Scattered snow flurries are expected to continue tonight and Friday.

Meanwhile, another school system closed today, two others resumed after a one - day suspension and still another remained closed, apparently because of road conditions hazardous to school bus travel.

Dr. Dale W. Williams, president of the Hancock County Board of Education, said Hancock schools were closed after he checked with the State Road Commission garage at Pughtown and learned roads were icy this morning. The system had remained open yesterday.

East Liverpool public schools resumed today and absenteism was reported as "normal," with no delays in bus runs.

Classes resumed at Wellsville

Senators Press Probe Of Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators push ahead today with the Bobby Baker investigation, but the former Senate aide has flung a wet blanket over the inquiry by his refusal to answer questions.

There is substantial opinion around the Senate that while a lot of smoke still may pour out of the investigation, most of its low-burning fire may have been snuffed out.

A Republican member of the Senate Rules Committee, unwilling to be quoted by name, said that Democrats were talking about a speedy windup of the inquiry but that Republicans have around 40 prospective witnesses they want interviewed and possibly called to testify.

Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, is under subpoena to appear for questioning at a public hearing next Tuesday.

But he said Wednesday, after a closed hearing at which he refused to surrender subpoenaed documents, that he would follow the advice of his lawyers and decline to answer the committee's questions.

The committee said that after Tuesday's hearing it will consider whether to recommend to the Senate that he be cited for contempt of Congress, punishable by a year in jail, a $1,000 fine, or both.

It is investigating whether Baker, while on the Senate payroll at $19,600-a-year, engaged in outside business and financial dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

Among witnesses called to testify today were W. F. Collins, president of the District of Columbia National Bank, and Jose Benitez, deputy high commissioner of the Pacific Trust Territory and a former Democratic chairman in Puerto Rico.

The committee said Collins would be asked about loans Baker has obtained from the bank, in which Baker has reported holding 1,500 shares of stock. Benitez has been linked with Baker in prior testimony involving imports of meat from Haiti.

Aid Rushed To Homeless On Sao Jorge

Island In Azores Ruined By Quakes; 1,000 Evacuated

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Terceira, Azores (AP) — Tents, medicine and food were rushed to homeless thousands on Sao Jorge today after a wave of earthquakes crumbled the island's main town to rubble.

An emergency evacuation that brought more than 1,000 Sao Jorge islanders to nearby Terceira was stopped Wednesday when the six-day series of quakes subsided. The other 19,000 inhabitants chose to stay on the island.

The American freighter Steel Director joined nine British, Norwegian, Italian and Yugoslav ships in removing dazed refugees. Two landing craft from the U.S. Air Force Base at Lajes, on Terceira's eastern shore, brought the refugees from the larger ships to shore.

Most of the 1,600 buildings in the area of Velas, Sao Jorge's chief town, were reported destroyed.

"The news we have is that all is desolation and ruins in that once happy sector of the island" the district governor said.

Rosais Township also was reported heavily damaged.

Portugal, which rules the volcanic Azores chain 1,000 miles west of Lisbon, sent troops to Sao Jorge with relief supplies.

Antonio Lourerio, a refugee, said he lost count of the tremors, which began last Friday. "There must have been over 1,000 of them," he reported.

Jose Miniz Madruga said he and many others got away with only the clothes they wore after the quakes wrecked their homes.

Many of the homeless assembled at Calheta, an east coast village, to await rescue.

Jury Clears Trucker In Crash Deaths

LISBON — Vernon Hatcher, 28-year-old trucker charged with second degree manslaughter in the deaths of eight area residents in an Oct. 2 traffic crash, today was acquitted by a Common Pleas Court jury which deliberated about three hours.

Harcher of Quaker City was driver of a tractor-trailer rig from which a steel coil slipped, striking one car near Williamsport and killing five in it, and the rig then plunged on, ramming another car head - on, claiming three in it.

The panel began deliberating Wednesday afternoon at 3:40 and was released to go home at 5 p. m. by Judge Raymond Buzzard when the members indicated they were not near a verdict.

They returned this morning at 9 a. m. and returned the verdict at 10:45. The trial began Monday.

Hatcher was indicted only in the death of Mrs. Judith Ann Lewis, 19, of East Palestine R. D. 1, driver of the first car struck.

Hatcher in his testimony said there was apparently some trouble with the air brakes. He said he had felt the rig begin to "whip" as headed into the downhill section of Route 7, and had struggled to keep the outfit in the proper lane.

Hatcher said he was not responsible for the rig's going out of control.

Members of the jury, after dismissal this morning, said the panel came to the conclusion that something had occurred which caused the rig to veer to the left side of the roadway, and that it was not Hatcher's fault that it went left of center and the coils of steel rolled off the trailer.

U.S. To Lease Structure

Bids Will Be Sought Soon For Chester Post Office

Plans and specifications for Chester's proposed new Post Office, to be erected on the north side of Carolina Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts., along with bidding forms, are to be made available soon and advertising for bids will be undertaken shortly.

A statement from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the new building will have some 3,960 square feet of floor space with ample area for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

He said the building will be erected under the department's lease - construction program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise for needed postal buildings.

The site option will be transferred to the successful bidder who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the department on a long-term basis.

"The department's capital investment will be limited to postal equipment," Gronouski said. "The building will remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government and the owner will pay local real estate taxes."

The new building will replace the present facility at 5th and Carolina Ave.

"The new building," he said, "is designed to carry out the department's objective of providing newly constructed postal units where they are most urgently needed in the interest of more efficient postal service and improved working conditions for employes."

Brokaw Asks State Ruling On Gosney's Double Jobs

Is Columbiana County Democratic Chairman Don Gosney's post on the county election board incompatible with his job as aide to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman?

No, said Gosney today in a comment about a ruling sought by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw from Atty. Gen. William Saxbe concerning the two posts.

Gosney, at Columbus, said he had been given a verbal assurance by the County Prosecutor's office a number of years ago that the two posts were compatible, and has two previous opinions from Secretary of State Ted Brown that his status in the two jobs is acceptable.

Brokaw, a Republican, said he has been asked a number of times whether Gosney's role as an aide to Rep. Hays and on the election board are compatible, so he decided to seek a ruling from the attorney general.

Both Gosney and Rep. Hays have been active in Astronaut John Glenn's campaign for the Democratic nomination for Ohio senator.

Brokaw said 1954 attorney general's opinion indicated the jobs of assistant county prosecutor and election board post were incompatible when the assistant prosecutor's boss was on the ballot.

Brokaw said the possibility exists that Gosney as an elec-

Auto Ditches, Hurting Girls, Young Driver

Two 17-year-old East Liverpool girls were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered Wednesday night when the car in which they were riding backed into a ditch on Park Way about 800 feet north of Pennsylvania Ave. The 17-year-old driver was hurt less seriously.

Hospitalized were: Miss Patricia Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, 1039 Vine St., who suffered a neck injury, and Miss Linda Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tucker, 100 Center St., Beechwood, who suffered a possible back injury.

The driver, Ronald W. Allison, 1534 Globe St., was released after treatment for contusions of the left forehead.

Allison was driving a 1956 sedan registered to Vernon Allison of the same East End address, police said.

The youth told police he was headed north on Park Way when an oncoming car crowded him off the street and almost into a ditch. He said he tried to back away from the scene and had gone 5 to 10 feet when the auto went into a ditch. There was possible damage to the undercarriage of the car, police said.

Skids were blamed for two other mishaps on the "Hill Rd." stretch of Pennsylvania Ave. Wednesday.

Accumulation Of Snow Rises Despite Cold

Schools In Hancock Close; Wellsville's, City System Reopen

Colder weather was supposed to cut off further snow but there was more today to add to the accumulation from the 24-hour storm that blanketed the area under an average of about 9 inches. The fall ranged from 7 to over 10 inches.

Most of the snow hit Tuesday night but its continued virtually all day Wednesday, tapering to flurries last night, then resuming this morning. The forenoon fall, with dense squalls at time, was light, however. Scattered snow flurries are expected to continue tonight and Friday.

Meanwhile, another school system closed today, two others resumed after a one - day suspension and still another remained closed, apparently because of road conditions hazardous to school bus travel.

Dr. Dale W. Williams, president of the Hancock County Board of Education, said Hancock schools were closed after he checked with the State Road Commission garage at Pughtown and learned roads were icy this morning. The system had remained open yesterday.

East Liverpool public schools resumed today and absenteism was reported as "normal," with no delays in bus runs.

Classes resumed at Wellsville

U.S. To Lease Structure

Bids Will Be Sought Soon For Chester Post Office

Plans and specifications for Chester's proposed new Post Office, to be erected on the north side of Carolina Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts., along with bidding forms, are to be made available soon and advertising for bids will be undertaken shortly.

A statement from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the new building will have some 3,960 square feet of floor space with ample area for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

He said the building will be erected under the department's lease - construction program, which utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise for needed postal buildings.

The site option will be transferred to the successful bidder who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the department on a long-term basis.

"The department's capital investment will be limited to postal equipment," Gronouski said. "The building will remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government and the owner will pay local real estate taxes."

The new building will replace the present facility at 5th and Carolina Ave.

"The new building," he said, "is designed to carry out the department's objective of providing newly constructed postal units where they are most urgently needed in the interest of more efficient postal service and improved working conditions for employes."

Sees Incompatibility

Brokaw Asks State Ruling On Gosney's Double Jobs

Is Columbiana County Democratic Chairman Don Gosney's post on the county election board incompatible with his job as aide to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman?

No, said Gosney today in a comment about a ruling sought by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw from Atty. Gen. William Saxbe concerning the two posts.

Gosney, at Columbus, said he had been given a verbal assurance by the County Prosecutor's office a number of years ago that the two posts were compatible, and has two previous opinions from Secretary of State Ted Brown that his status in the two jobs is acceptable.

Brokaw, a Republican, said he has been asked a number of times whether Gosney's role as an aide to Rep. Hays and on the election board are compatible, so he decided to seek a ruling from the attorney general.

Both Gosney and Rep. Hays have been active in Astronaut John Glenn's campaign for the Democratic nomination for Ohio senator.

Brokaw said 1954 attorney general's opinion indicated the jobs of assistant county prosecutor and election board post were incompatible when the assistant prosecutor's boss was on the ballot.

Brokaw said the possibility exists that Gosney as an elec-

Beaver Project Set

180,000 To Get Sabin Vaccine

Plans for the distribution of the Sabin oral polio vaccine in the Midland area were made at a meeting of the steering committee Tuesday night at Midland High School.

Over 180,000 Beaver County residents are expected to receive the vaccine at 33 clinics to be set up in schools on Sundays, March 1, April 5, and May 10.

MIDLAND area clinics will be at Midland High School and Western Beaver County High School in Industry. The vaccine will be distributed on lumps of sugar containing two drops.

Presiding at the meeting were Dr. J. W. Smith of Beaver Falls, secretary of the Beaver County Medical Society, and Dick Richard Fusco of Rochester, executive director of the United Funds of Beaver County

The society is sponsoring the clinics in co-operation with the United Fund.

Dr. Smith said everyone should take the vaccine.

FUSCO SAID that over 80 per cent of the county's population must take the vaccine if the drive to eliminate polio is to be successful.

Leaflets containing registration forms will be distributed in area schools and in the business districts. Persons under 21 must register but adults need not.

Though the vaccine is free, donations of 25 cents will be accepted to help defray costs of the program, Fusco said.

If persons have had only two of the series of vaccines, they may take the whole series again without any harm, Dr. Smith said. Persons with diabetes may take the lump of sugar, which is only about half the size as that served in restaurants. There are no restrictions on eating before or after taking the vaccine.

TYPE I of the vaccine will be given March 1, Type III on April 5, and Type II, which remains in the digestive tract the longest, on May 10.

Hours for the clinics will be 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. In case of overflow turnout on the scheduled days, a follow-up Sunday will be held.

Dr. Smith said adults as well as children should take the vaccine to prevent all persons from being carriers of polio. He pointed out that Type I will be given first, declaring that 80 per cent of those suffering from polio, have Type I.

S. G. Bouse of Harrisburg, representative of Wyeth Laboratories of Radnor, Pa., whose firm supplies the vaccine, attended the meeting.

THE MIDLAND area steering committee includes: Charles R. Schmitt, representing the Midland Area Charities and the local area United Fund, general supervisor for the clinics; Dr. J. A. Helfrich, representing the medical society; Mrs. Louise Rakas, nurses; Ernest Dostilak, pharmacists; Mrs. Mary McCandless of New Brighton, medical assistants; Mrs. E. H. North of Beaver, medical auxiliary, Nick Mosura of Industry, Steelworkers Local 1212; Earl Rankin of Industry and Miss Dorothy Shevenaough of Midland, Midland Area Chamber of Commerce, and School Supt. Ralph H. Jewell and William Walters, Midland High Principal, schools.

DOCTORS who will assist include Dr. Constantine Mourat and Dr. Thomas Boyd, both of Midland, for the Midland clinic, and Dr. L. D. Goggin of Midland and Dr. E. H. North of Beaver, both at the Western Beaver Clinic.

Anyone desiring to serve as clerks for registration, cards, data, donations and utility may contact the Beaver County United Fund Office.

Police will supervise traffic and Boy Scouts will direct persons at the clinic. Over 6,000 persons are expected to visit the clinics each Sunday.

Persons residing out of Pennsylvania but who come regularly to the state are also invited to take the vaccine.

Board Receives Lone Application For Police Exam

Despite repeated reminders, the Municipal Civil Service Commission said today it has received only one application for an exam it will hold March 6 to make up a new eligibility list for appointment of police patrolmen.

The eligibility list made up after the exam will remain in effect a year.

School Bus Plunge Stops On Hill Edge

The quick actions of a Hancock County school bus driver narrowly averted a tragedy Wednesday afternoon after the bus slipped sideways on Redick's Hill near Newell and hung precariously over a 150 - foot embankment.

Hancock schools were closed today after being open on Tuesday, but school officials said there was no connection between the closing and the near-mishap.

Five children were ordered off the bus by William Harpold of Chester as it slipped sideways toward the steep drop.

Harpold said the left wheels were dangling in the air and the bus actually was being held by the stairwell which caught on the edge of the hill. The right wheels also were on the ground, he added.

Harpold said he was headed up Redick's Hill leading from 6th St. in Newell to the Washington School Rd.

He was appriximately three-fourths of the way up the hill and had rounded a curve which leans to the dropoff on the left when he encountered a stalled auto and another school bus heading down the hill.

After stopping to allow the other bus to pass, Harpold said he tried to continue up the hill but the bus began skidding.

The driver said he decided to try to back down the grade, staying on the good portion of the road. As he did, the bus began slipping sideways and Harpold said he put the bus in neutral gear and applied the emergency brake, ordering the five youngsters to leave through the entrance on the right side.

As the bus slowly slid sideways, Harpold said he left his seat and got near the door to aid the children when three of the youngsters rushed past him and he was knocked outside. The other two youngsters fell inside the bus, he added.

Harpold said he climbed aboard the bus to aid the other two but they had reached the stairwell and he helped them off the bus.

A wrecker was called to pull the bus back onto the highway.

'Confused' In Court, Man Returns To Jail

Obviously confused, an intoxication defendant admitted to Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he did know where he was when he stood before the bench this morning.

Judge Chertoff ordered the defendant, Thomas Scott, of Hookstown returned to jail to await a hearing Friday morning.

When Scott shuffled up to the bench, the judge asked: "Do you know where you are?" He was remanded to jail, with bond fixed at $100, when he replied he did not know where he was.

Scott was arrested on a state intoxication charge at 2:57 this morning on E. 5th St., police said. Two and a half pints of wine were found in his pockets when he was booked, police said.

City Man, 37, Gets Term As Drunk Driver

William Compa, 37, of Riverview St., found alseep Wednesday morning in a parked house-car vehicle in the California Hollow section of Route 30, was sentenced today in Municipal Court to six months in County Jail and fined $300 and costs on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. His operator's permit also was suspended for three years.

The State Highway Patrol said Compa was found about three tenths of a mile outside the city limits in a vehicle which Thomas Lanam, 314 Market St., reported stolen from Market St. and Church Alley between 4:30 p. m. and 2:45 a. m. yesterday. However, it was established that Lanam apparently had permitted Compa to drive the vehicle, so no additional charges were filed, the patrol said.

Compa pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. However, the judge commented that Compa appeared "still under the influence of alcohol," so he ordered him held in jail until this morning.

Compa switched his plea to guilty when he returned to court this morning. He said in his appearance yesterday he thought he was being arraigned on a charge of driving the vehicle without the owner's consent.

The patrol said Compa was found in Lanam's vehicle at 7:36 a. m. yesterday. It was parked in snow five feet off the highway and Compa was asleep behind the wheel with a half-empty bottle of wine on the seat beside him, the patrol reported.

Compa told the court he thought he was "too drunk to drive, so I pulled off the road to sleep it off." He readily admitted driving the vehicle.

Studying the defendant's record, the judge commented he has been in court 16 times in the last three years — mostly on intoxication charges. But the judge recalled that Compa was before him on a drunken driving charge about two years ago.

"You made a fool of the court then," the judge said. "I listened to your story and gave you your license back. I feel every man is entitled to one break. But the court won't make the same mistake again."

Then he pronounced sentence.

Jockey Given 60-Day Term On 4 Charges

A Newell jockey is going to miss the early sessions of Waterford Park's 72-day spring meeting starting March 7.

William H. Jurgens, apprehended by Hancock County officials at a roadblock in Toronto after a high speed chase from Newell Monday night, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $190 and costs when arraigned Wednesday night before Squire Harry Lytton in Newell on four charges stemming from the chase.

The 21-year-old Middletown (Ill.) native was fined $100 and costs and 30 days for resisting arrest and $50 and costs and 30 days for reckless driving. Squire Lytton said the jail terms are to be served consecutively.

Jurgens also was fined $20 and costs each on charges of improper passing and failing to stop for a stop sign. The jockey paid the fines and costs on the two charges.

Charges of felonious assault and assault and battery filed by his wife, Darlene, still are pending, Squire Lytton said.

The chase started when Deputy Paul R. Cowey and Constable J. Carl Durham of Newell attempted to serve warrants on Jurgens. However, Jurgens headed for his auto and sped away with the two officers chasing him across the Newell bridge and through East Liverpool and Wellsville before he was halted at a roadblock set up by Toronto police. Speeds of 120 miles an hour were reached at one time, the officers said.

Jurgens also forfeited a $33.50 bond in Wellsville on a reckless driving charge.

Ronald Simmons of Newell was fined $10 and costs last night by Squire Lytton on a hazardous driving charge. He was cited Saturday on Washington St. in Newell by sheriff's deputies.

Water Project Progressing

Don Bertram of the Michael Baker, Inc., consulting engineers, reported at the meeting of the Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday night that the expansion project at the plant on Railroad Ln. is progressing and about 20 per cent completed.

Don Craik, plant manager, said the fire and liability insurance has been combined into a package policy through the Bassinger & Gifford Agency of Midland.

Sullivan Tonti, board member, said he had met with R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, and Glenn Roberts of the Crucible Steel Co. and that it was decided that a fence on Municipal Authority property at 7th St. and Railroad Ln. would be removed to allow workers easier access to the Crucible plant.

The fence was erected to stop workers from crossing the property when it was being used to dump fill dirt from the construction project at the main plant. Roberts said that Crucible is contemplating filling the auto underpass in the area, and then constructing a walkover for the workers.

Prices will be sought from certified public accountants for monthly reports, rather than a year-end audit.

Water bills for $30,993.52 and sewage bills of $31,189.41 were ordered paid. Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, presided. Next meeting will be held March 18.

Fairfield Unit To Meet

LISBON — The Fairfield Friendly Neighbors Demonstration Group will meet Tuesday at 9:55 a. m. at the Columbiana Plaza and then tour Fron's & Gorant's candy shops, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Beaver Project Set

180,000 To Get Sabin Vaccine

Plans for the distribution of the Sabin oral polio vaccine in the Midland area were made at a meeting of the steering committee Tuesday night at Midland High School.

Over 180,000 Beaver County residents are expected to receive the vaccine at 33 clinics to be set up in schools on Sundays, March 1, April 5, and May 10.

MIDLAND area clinics will be at Midland High School and Western Beaver County High School in Industry. The vaccine will be distributed on lumps of sugar containing two drops.

Presiding at the meeting were Dr. J. W. Smith of Beaver Falls, secretary of the Beaver County Medical Society, and Dick Richard Fusco of Rochester, executive director of the United Funds of Beaver County

The society is sponsoring the clinics in co-operation with the United Fund.

Dr. Smith said everyone should take the vaccine.

FUSCO SAID that over 80 per cent of the county's population must take the vaccine if the drive to eliminate polio is to be successful.

Leaflets containing registration forms will be distributed in area schools and in the business districts. Persons under 21 must register but adults need not.

Though the vaccine is free, donations of 25 cents will be accepted to help defray costs of the program, Fusco said.

If persons have had only two of the series of vaccines, they may take the whole series again without any harm, Dr. Smith said. Persons with diabetes may take the lump of sugar, which is only about half the size as that served in restaurants. There are no restrictions on eating before or after taking the vaccine.

TYPE I of the vaccine will be given March 1, Type III on April 5, and Type II, which remains in the digestive tract the longest, on May 10.

Hours for the clinics will be 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. In case of overflow turnout on the scheduled days, a follow-up Sunday will be held.

Dr. Smith said adults as well as children should take the vaccine to prevent all persons from being carriers of polio. He pointed out that Type I will be given first, declaring that 80 per cent of those suffering from polio, have Type I.

S. G. Bouse of Harrisburg, representative of Wyeth Laboratories of Radnor, Pa., whose firm supplies the vaccine, attended the meeting.

THE MIDLAND area steering committee includes: Charles R. Schmitt, representing the Midland Area Charities and the local area United Fund, general supervisor for the clinics; Dr. J. A. Helfrich, representing the medical society; Mrs. Louise Rakas, nurses; Ernest Dostilak, pharmacists; Mrs. Mary McCandless of New Brighton, medical assistants; Mrs. E. H. North of Beaver, medical auxiliary, Nick Mosura of Industry, Steelworkers Local 1212; Earl Rankin of Industry and Miss Dorothy Shevenaough of Midland, Midland Area Chamber of Commerce, and School Supt. Ralph H. Jewell and William Walters, Midland High Principal, schools.

—:—

DOCTORS who will assist include Dr. Constantine Mourat and Dr. Thomas Boyd, both of Midland, for the Midland clinic, and Dr. L. D. Goggin of Midland and Dr. E. H. North of Beaver, both at the Western Beaver Clinic.

Anyone desiring to serve as clerks for registration, cards, data, donations and utility may contact the Beaver County United Fund Office.

Police will supervise traffic and Boy Scouts will direct persons at the clinic. Over 6,000 persons are expected to visit the clinics each Sunday.

Persons residing out of Pennsylvania but who come regularly to the state are also invited to take the vaccine.

East End Man Unhurt When 2 Cars Crash

A city man escaped injury in a two - car crash Wednesday night at 9:45 on Route 7 almost two miles north of Steubenville.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said a car driven by Patricia L. Kellermier, 37, of Steubenville R. D. 1 collided with one operated by James R. Zubick, 23, of 1705 Etruria St.

She was headed south when she lost control on the icy highway. The car went off the right side, returned to the road and slid broadside down the highway, striking the northbound Zubick car, officers said.

Another accident was recorded at the scene about 20 minutes later. The woman's car was parked on the west berm, headed south when it was hit by a sliding car operated by Eugene L. Calabrese, 35, of Toronto.

He rounded a curve, attempted to slow after observing a flagman and slid into her car, officers said.

A Youngstown motorist suffered a chest injury in a one-car crash Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. on Route 7 just north of Toronto.

Bernard Reisman was headed north when his car went out of control on the snow - slick highway. The car went off the right side, plunged over an embankment and struck a tree. The car was heavily damaged. He was treated at Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville.

Board Receives Lone Application For Police Exam

Despite repeated reminders, the Municipal Civil Service Commission said today it has received only one application for an exam it will hold March 6 to make up a new eligibility list for appointment of police patrolmen.

The deadline for applications is 4 p. m. Friday. Forms may be obtained at the office of Mayor Merrill D. Hall or from any members of the commission — Donal I. Burcham, A. A. Fiorello and H. A. Tullis. P. K. Calhoon is clerk.

A new patrolman starts at $360 monthly and advances to $400 at the end of six months, the commission pointed out. It reminded that police, as all city employes, have hospitalization and life insurance premiums paid by the city. Officers also receive a $100-a-year uniform allowance.

The eligibility list made up after the exam will remain in effect a year.

Second round pre-school immunization clinics for April will be announced later, Dr. Palmer said.

School Bus Plunge Stops On Hill Edge

The quick actions of a Hancock County school bus driver narrowly averted a tragedy Wednesday afternoon after the bus slipped sideways on Redick's Hill near Newell and hung precariously over a 150 - foot embankment.

Hancock schools were closed today after being open on Tuesday, but school officials said there was no connection between the closing and the near-mishap.

Five children were ordered off the bus by William Harpold of Chester as it slipped sideways toward the steep drop.

Harpold said the left wheels were dangling in the air and the bus actually was being held by the stairwell which caught on the edge of the hill. The right wheels also were on the ground, he added.

Harpold said he was headed up Redick's Hill leading from 6th St. in Newell to the Washington School Rd.

He was appriximately three-fourths of the way up the hill and had rounded a curve which leans to the dropoff on the left when he encountered a stalled auto and another school bus heading down the hill.

After stopping to allow the other bus to pass, Harpold said he tried to continue up the hill but the bus began skidding.

The driver said he decided to try to back down the grade, staying on the good portion of the road. As he did, the bus began slipping sideways and Harpold said he put the bus in neutral gear and applied the emergency brake, ordering the five youngsters to leave through the entrance on the right side.

As the bus slowly slid sideways, Harpold said he left his seat and got near the door to aid the children when three of the youngsters rushed past him and he was knocked outside. The other two youngsters fell inside the bus, he added.

Harpold said he climbed aboard the bus to aid the other two but they had reached the stairwell and he helped them off the bus.

A wrecker was called to pull the bus back onto the highway.

'Confused' In Court, Man Returns To Jail

Obviously confused, an intoxication defendant admitted to Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he did know where he was when he stood before the bench this morning.

Judge Chertoff ordered the defendant, Thomas Scott, of Hookstown returned to jail to await a hearing Friday morning.

When Scott shuffled up to the bench, the judge asked: "Do you know where you are?" He was remanded to jail, with bond fixed at $100, when he replied he did not know where he was.

Scott was arrested on a state intoxication charge at 2:57 this morning on E. 5th St., police said. Two and a half pints of wine were found in his pockets when he was booked, police said.

City Man, 37, Gets Term As Drunk Driver

William Compa, 37, of Riverview St., found alseep Wednesday morning in a parked housecar vehicle in the California Hollow section of Route 30, was sentenced today in Municipal Court to six months in County Jail and fined $300 and costs on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. His operator's permit also was suspended for three years.

The State Highway Patrol said Compa was found about three tenths of a mile outside the city limits in a vehicle which Thomas Lanam, 314 Market St., reported stolen from Market St. and Church Alley between 4:30 p. m. and 2:45 a. m. yesterday. However, it was established that Lanam apparently had permitted Compa to drive the vehicle, so no additional charges were filed, the patrol said.

Compa pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. However, the judge commented that Compa appeared "still under the influence of alcohol," so he ordered him held in jail until this morning.

Compa switched his plea to guilty when he returned to court this morning. He said in his appearance yesterday he thought he was being arraigned on a charge of driving the vehicle without the owner's consent.

The patrol said Compa was found in Lanam's vehicle at 7:36 a. m. yesterday. It was parked in snow five feet off the highway and Compa was asleep behind the wheel with a half-empty bottle of wine on the seat beside him, the patrol reported.

Compa told the court he thought he was "too drunk to drive, so I pulled off the road to sleep it off." He readily admitted driving the vehicle.

Studying the defendant's record, the judge commented he has been in court 16 times in the last three years — mostly on intoxication charges. But the judge recalled that Compa was before him on a drunken driving charge about two years ago.

"You made a fool of the court then," the judge said. "I listened to your story and gave you your license back. I feel every man is entitled to one break. But the court won't make the same mistake again."

Then he pronounced sentence.

Jockey Given 60-Day Term On 4 Charges

A Newell jockey is going to miss the early sessions of Waterford Park's 72-day spring meeting starting March 7.

William H. Jurgens, apprehended by Hancock County officials at a roadblock in Toronto after a high speed chase from Newell Monday night, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $190 and costs when arraigned Wednesday night before Squire Harry Lytton in Newell on four charges stemming from the chase.

The 21-year-old Middletown (Ill.) native was fined $100 and costs and 30 days for resisting arrest and $50 and costs and 30 days for reckless driving. Squire Lytton said the jail terms are to be served consecutively.

Jurgens also was fined $20 and costs each on charges of improper passing and failing to stop for a stop sign. The jockey paid the fines and costs on the two charges.

Charges of felonious assault and assault and battery filed by his wife, Darlene, still are pending, Squire Lytton said.

The chase started when Deputy Paul R. Cowey and Constable J. Carl Durham of Newell attempted to serve warrants on Jurgens. However, Jurgens headed for his auto and sped away with the two officers chasing him across the Newell bridge and through East Liverpool and Wellsville before he was halted at a roadblock set up by Toronto police. Speeds of 120 miles an hour were reached at one time, the officers said.

Jurgens also forfeited a $33.50 bond in Wellsville on a reckless driving charge.

Ronald Simmons of Newell was fined $10 and costs last night by Squire Lytton on a hazardous driving charge. He was cited Saturday on Washington St. in Newell by sheriff's deputies.

What Happened To Tax Reform?

By the time the late President Kennedy had sent his message on tax reform and reduction to Congress on Jan. 24, 1963, something drastic had happened to reform.

It had been subordinated to tax reduction — a thumping $13.6 reduction, offset by a piddling $3.4 to be gained back in reform. That hadn't been the idea of reform at all — that it would add revenue.

People who had been starry-eyed about reform were thinking of it in another way. They wanted the kind of reform that would get rid of inequities irritating them, not the kind that would get rid of loopholes irritating the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

What has happened to reform between the time it became good politics to talk about it in 1962 and the time it was hammered into legislation in 1964 is the story of the weakness and strength of government by compromise.

CONGRESS finally enacts into law not what is logical, equitable and sensible but what is possible after conflicting elements have clashed and learned which faction has the controlling votes.

Taxation becomes involved in politics — the art of the possible. The system works well in matters where the outcome is six of one and a half dozen of the other. Compromise is the best way to settle contests between parties that are half right or half wrong.

But in matters of principle, splitting the difference is like splitting the difference in a showdown on honesty. Where virtue is at issue there can be no difference-splitting.

There is difference-splitting, however, and that is why tax reform is needed. Tax legislation has been patched, doctored, plastered over and jerry-built so often that experts like Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., think it is an affront to logic and common sense.

IF REP. MILLS and experts like him could revise federal taxes according to logic and good judgment, they could reduce the federal income tax to a fraction of what it is now, with a substantial boost in productivity.

They could get rid of inequities that have been running sores for decades.

They could simplify the tax structure until there would be no market for the services of loophole locaters; there would be no loopholes.

But it never can happen — not while taxation is in politics.

A new tax law now will be turned over to the mercies of administrators and courts, who will have to determine in the next four years what the politicians meant by their votes. It is not by any stretch of imagination a tax reform law, just a tax-cutting act.

There is no more reform in it than in a well-filled Christmas stocking on the morning of Dec. 25; i.e., or the eve of a national election.

Ohioans Want To Know

Whether President Johnson's comments last December about frugality in government had anything to do with year-end cuts in Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation budget may determine the outcome to current efforts to have the cuts eliminated.

Gov. Rhodes has asked the President to help Ohio recover the $1 million subtracted from Ohio's $15½ million as of last Dec. 31, following a number of White House statements about the necessity of saving federal funds.

The impact of this blow was intensified by the fact seven months of the fiscal year were gone, which meant the missing million had to be made up in the remaining five months. It amounted to nearly a 22 per cent cut in staff for the balance of the fiscal year, compared with the staff allowed in 1963.

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember the cut has nothing to do with benefits paid to Ohio unemployed, only to money to BUC employes. This aspect may be the reason U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Flushing, representing the 18th Ohio District, has got into a hassle with Willard F. Dudley, Ohio BUC administrator. Perhaps Rep. Hays sees a chance to get in a dirty dig while Mr. Dudley is preoccupied with other matters.

Rep. Hays apparently is nursing a peeve about BUC administration in his district. "It is my view that your funds should be reduced even more so that you can get rid of some of those arrogant know-it-alls whose main mission in life is to deny unemployment compensation, no matter," is Hays' summation of the issue.

Knowing how Wayne Hays sometimes pops off first and thinks afterward, Ohioans are not minded to take him seriously in this matter.

Nor are they inclined to take too seriously BUC administrator Dudley's alarm over losing a few hundred employes out of several thousand.

WHAT THEY seriously want to know from the Johnson administration via Labor Secretary Wirtz is whether the Ohio BUC cuts are part of a national project in frugality, like their own governor's austerity program for Ohio.

If so, it would be pretty hard for Gov. Rhodes to knock a federal move to shuck off a few hundred BUC employes in Ohio.

If the true motive is not economy but a form of selective political chastisement, Ohio has every good reason to wonder how a state which sends its money to Washington can ever hope to get a fair share of it back for the purpose it is supposed to cover.

We Do Have Our Troubles

The Maritime Trades Department of AFL-CIO chose a bad time to air the complications that have grown out of the Russian wheat deal.

The unionist's starchy insistence on getting more Russia-bound U.S. wheat into U.S. vessels calls worldwide attention to the fact it is only other countries that are not supposed to sell anything to the Communist bloc. When the United States sells something, it has "good reasons."

The best reason was desire to move as much surplus U.S. wheat as possible out of granaries into the holds of ships that would carry it to Russian ports. The late President Kennedy specified that as much wheat as possible should be transported in U.S. ships, where these were available.

The trouble began right there.

Not only is there an over-all shortage of U.S. ships, thanks to the fact much U.S. capital has gone into foreign registry shipping. There also is a shortage of U.S. ships available for transport of dry cargo like wheat. Relatively few ships are "available."

And beyond that there is a gross shortage of incentive to find ships of U.S. registry, because the grain-shipping job can be done cheaper and in some instances better by ships of foreign registry.

It's a complex, messy problem, and shame on AFL-CIO maritimers for turning the spotlight on it when all of us are scowling at Britain and France for selling buses and trucks to Cuba. At least they aren't squabbling about what ships to use.

Keeping Fit

By Truman Twill

If Stan Musial wants me to be physically fit, I'll try. The new director of the nation's Physical Fitness Program has my confidence.

But he and I must understand a few things about physical fitness first. I want him to know how I feel.

I don't believe physical fitness has much to do with exercise. Exercise, as far as I'm concerned, is for people with special aptitudes and special problems and should be avoided as mass treatment.

I don't believe standards of physical fitness should be determined by the athletically inclined, like Stan Musial. As far as I can make out, athletes as a group are not physically fit.

They are characterized by social ability to do such specific things as hit baseballs with bats, throw and catch footballs, jump, run and strike with their fists. These have little bearing on survival quotient, which is the important thing in physical fitness.

SURVIVAL QUOTIENT is not notably high among athletes. Neither is it high among exercise nuts, beach boys, and other musclemen. Insurance tables show it is notably high only among women.

Women outlive men.

They are better adapted to survival than men.

They are tougher, rougher and better adjusted.

This is so, despite their exposure to one risk men do not face — childbirth. This risk, unlike war, the special hazard of the male, is continuous. But women cope with it as successfully as they cope with everything else.

So along comes the idea that physical fitness would be good for the country and millions of people think of Jayne Mansfield, Y. A. Tittle and Stan Musial, though not necessarily in that order.

They think of athletic ability and proficiency in specialties. They think of exercise, of muscle-building and ligament-stretching. They are urged to take a dark view of nonathletes, misshapen bodies, softies and flab-bearers.

But chances are the exercise nuts will be borne to their last resting places by men who never met any exercise at all, except when pressed into service as pallbearers.

AND IT'S A certainty the survivors will be women. Whole neighborhoods in this country are composed of widows.

If Stan the Man says so, I'll be physically fit. But mostly what I'd prefer to keep on doing is girl-watching, if only to get the hang of how the female of the species works like a dog, hangs on through thick and thin and outlives everybody else.

Labor Studies Political Future

By Victor Riesel

An unrecorded conversation between Britain's prime minister and an American labor leader occurred in a corner of the White House East Room last Thursday evening — and it should be put on record.

Victor Riesel

During the few minutes which separated the end of the serenaded state dinner for the British leader and the beginning of the ball on that night of Feb. 13, Sir Alec Douglas-Home found himself along side Alex Rose, a man of two hats. Mr. Rose is both the political voice of the liberal labor movement and president of the Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers Union. He was one of three labor chiefs invited by his friend President Johnson to the state dinner honoring the British chief of state.

"We want you to feel happy here tonight," Rose told the prime minister jovially, "because we don't know what our boys in the British trade union movement will do to you during your coming election campaign."

The prime minister was undisturbed. He looked genially and calmly at Rose, who by this time had been joined by Jack Conway, an intimate of Walter Reuther and head of the six-million member AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department.

"I most certainly am having a fine time tonight," said Sir Alec, who will be running for re-election at almost exactly the same time as Lyndon Johnson.

THE DIFFERENCE is that Mr. Douglas-Home is heading for a knockdown fight with the British counterpart of America's militant liberal unions, while the Texan is heading for a political love affair with U.S. labor.

Thus the leaders of two powerful nations will be made or broken by politicalized unionism in the next seven or eight months. Should labor win in both nations, it will become a powerful international, as well as national, force, indeed.

President Johnson's new intimate relationship with militant labor was symbolized by names on the guest list for the banquet. Mr. Rose, who is the most frequent spokesman for the hard-hitting Liberal party of New York State was the only political figure there among the statesmen and artists and writers, such as Julie Andrews, Albert Finney, John Steinbeck and comic Milton Berle.

At the banquet itself in the State Room, to which 130 celebrities were invited, there were only two other union chiefs: Al Hayes, head of the huge 900,000-member Machinists Association and Herman Kenin, leader of the Musicians' Federation. Kenin rejoiced—during the dessert there was practically one violinist for every table.

AFTER THE DINNER another 200 personages were asked to join in a dance in the East Room. Among those were two union leaders—Jack Conway, of whom this nation will hear much, and his friend Victor Reuther, brother of Walter.

During the festivities President Johnson mentioned the next morning's schedule to Mr. Rose. They met in his Oval Room office at 10:30 Friday Feb. 14) and talked politics and economics for almost 40 minutes despite the clogging of the President's desk during the two days he spent with Sir Alec on international affairs.

The two men spoke of Texas hats. The President said that ladies' millinery was always on Mrs. Johnson's mind — but no one should underestimate the political importance of the rest of their conversation.

The New York Liberal party can deliver 400,000 votes in the big state. It provided John Kennedy with the needed margin to beat Dick Nixon. Some of its leaders, such as political pioneer David Dubinsky, chief of the 450,000-ember International Ladies Garment Workers Union, influence local unions and politics throughout the entire industrial Northeast from Pennsylvania to New England.

THE LIBERAL PARTY image is considered important to Mr. Johnson in the big cities. It is the label John Kennedy sought in a series of prenomination and election campaign breakfast conferences organized for him by Arthur Goldberg in '60.

The Liberal party membership covers the Furriers, the Needle Trades, the Retail Clerks, the Shoe Workers, the Pulp and Sulphide Workers, the International Union of Electrical Workers led by Jim Carey, and Mr. Reuther's Auto Workers, to mention just a few.

It's significant that Rose pledged the Democratic leader the support of the liberals and militant unions in the "campaign" so early in the season. Rose also is reported to have said that this meant that liberal and labor communities in many parts of the land would be very active in Mr. Johnson's campaign.

They reminisced about Harry Truman's 1948 campaign and the fact that it was the Liberal party which gave him a huge wind-up Madison Square Garden rally. This same party put almost half a million people in the street for John Kennedy and turned the tide for him in New York State. Pledges for similar support were made by Mr. Johnson's guest.

AND THERE was talk of Sargent Shriver, who was mentioned by Rose when he met newsmen on his way out of the Oval Room. Rose is too astute a political scientist not to realize the implications of a name mentioned right after a political talk with the President.

To many observers it appeared to be a message saying that the liberals would take Shriver as a vice presidential candidate.

Perhaps it is too early for such conjecture. But perhaps it it not political history, it seems to me, was made that morning.

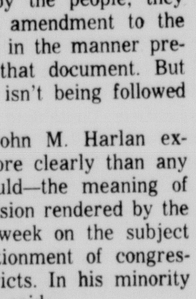
Law Of The Court

By David Lawrence

Ruling Seen Affecting Congressmen's Status

The Supreme Court of the United States can certainly throw a monkey wrench into the machinery. Within the last two days, the country has been told by one of the justices that almost all of the members of the present House of Representatives may have been elected illegally and that this is what the latest Supreme Court opinion means.



David Lawrence

Just what does this do to the validity of the legislation passed by this Congress? And what about the acts of previous Congresses which were elected in the very same way that the Supreme Court now denounces?

The nation again has been given an example of the almost incredible power which the Supreme Court of the United States assumes to exercise over the other branches of the government merely by the use of what is called "judicial interpretation."

For many decades, whenever a fundamental change in the existing system was deemed necessary by the people, they adopted an amendment to the Constitution in the manner prescribed in that document. But this course isn't being followed today.

Justice John M. Harlan explained—more clearly than any layman could—the meaning of the 6-3 decision rendered by the court this week on the subject of reapportionment of congressional districts. In his minority opinion, he said:

"I had not expected to witness the day when the Supreme Court of the United States would render a decision which casts grave doubt on the constitutionality of the composition of the House of Representatives. It's not an exaggeration to say that such is the effect of today's decision. The court's holding that the Constitution requires states to select representatives either by elections at large or by elections in districts composed 'as nearly as practicable' of equal population places in jeopardy the seats of almost all of the members of the present House of Representatives."

JUSTICE HARLAN pointed out that in the last congressional election in 1962, representatives from 42 states were elected from congressional districts and that in all but five of those states there was a sizeable inequality in the population of the districts. He then added:

"Thus, today's decision impugns the validity of the election of 398 representatives from 37 states, leaving a 'constitutional' house of 37 members now sitting."

There are many arguments in favor of changing the systems of representation in Congress so that a state's population will be equitably divided into districts for picking members of the House of Representatives. But the real question today is not whether the districting system that has been used by any state is inequitable, but whether the Supreme Court shall prescribe the method of change.

Justice Harlan called attention to the simple wording of the Constitution itself, which says:

"The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators."

JUSTICE HARLAN declared that "there is nothing to indicate any limitation whatsoever on this grant of plenary initial and supervisory power," and that the power thus granted by and the states is exclusive.

Justice Hugo Black, who wrote the majority opinion, based his argument almost entirely on the wording of another section of the same article in the Constitution, which says that the representatives shall be chosen "by the people of the several states." There is no dispute, however, about the right of the people to vote for members of Congress. The controversy arises over the method by which a state apportions its population into districts for the election of its representatives in Congress.

For decades, the Supreme Court steered away from any decision on this because it regarded it as a "political" question. This, incidentally, has been given by the Supreme Court for nearly 100 years as its reason for refusing to rule whether the 14th Amendment was fraudulently ratified.

PLAINLY, there are defects in the present system of establishing congressional districts, but this ought to be remedied by constitutional amendment, which should clearly set forth a basis on which apportionment shall be made in order to prevent inequities. Justice Harlan said:

"The Constitution does not confer on the court blanket authority to step into every situation where the political branch may be thought to have fallen short. The stability of this institution ultimately depends not only upon its being alert to keep the other branches of government within constitutional bounds but equally upon recognition of the limitations on the court's own functions in the constitutional system. . . .

"By yielding to the demand for a judicial remedy in this instance, the court in my view does a disservice both to itself and to the broader values of our system of government."

No such sweeping indictment of the usurpation of power by the Supreme Court has been rendered by any justice in recent years. The principle that the Constitution can be amended only in the manner prescribed in that document itself has been brushed aside many times by the present Supreme Court.

Never has it gone to far, however, as to issue a decision the effect of which, in the words of Justice Harlan, "is to declare constitutionally defective the very composition of a coordinate branch of the federal government."

Hodges And Automation

By Joseph R. Slevin

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges plans to have his department assume responsibility for dealing with the national automation problem.

The genial, soft-spoken North Carolinian reached his decision at a secret meeting that top Commerce Department officials held recently at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

Fourteen key aides accompanied the secretary to the brainstorming session. Their purpose was to look to the future and decide how the Commerce Department could best adjust to an age of science and technology.

MR. HODGES and his associates concluded that rapid technological development is inevitable and is to be encouraged.

The Commerce officials devoted part of their time to talking about the human problems that automation creates. Some 1.2 million people are displaced each year by technological advances.

They agreed that continuing assistance must be provided for the displaced workers but they decided that the emphasis must be on special training programs, jobless benefit payments, and other such measures rather than on slowing the pace at which technological improvements are introduced.

The Hodges decision to take over the prime responsibility for automation planning will come as a surprise to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Labor Department officials are devoting a substantial amount of time and money to studying automation and to running the displaced worker training programs.

But the Commerce secretary contends that his department can look at the total question and can take a positive approach to finding acceptable solutions.

SINCE TAKING the Commerce Department post in January, 1961, Mr. Hodges persistently has sought to lift the agency above its historic role as a service center for business.

The automation program is the secretary's latest move to enhance the department's power and prestige. If he pushes the drive as vigorously as the Camp David meeting agreed that he should, there will be a head-on jurisdictional clash with Secretary Wirtz that only President Johnson will be able to resolve.

What Happened To Tax Reform?

By the time the late President Kennedy had sent his message on tax reform and reduction to Congress on Jan. 24, 1963, something drastic had happened to reform.

It had been subordinated to tax reduction — a thumping $13.6 reduction, offset by a piddling $3.4 to be gained back in reform. That hadn't been the idea of reform at all — that it would add revenue.

People who had been starry-eyed about reform were thinking of it in another way. They wanted the kind of reform that would get rid of inequities irritating them, not the kind that would get rid of loopholes irritating the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

What has happened to reform between the time it became good politics to talk about it in 1962 and the time it was hammered into legislation in 1964 is the story of the weakness and strength of government by compromise.

CONGRESS finally enacts into law not what is logical, equitable and sensible but what is possible after conflicting elements have clashed and learned which faction has the controlling votes.

Taxation becomes involved in politics — the art of the possible. The system works well in matters where the outcome is six of one and a half dozen of the other. Compromise is the best way to settle contests between parties that are half right or half wrong.

But in matters of principle, splitting the difference is like splitting the difference in a showdown on honesty. Where virtue is at issue there can be no difference-splitting.

There is difference-splitting, however, and that is why tax reform is needed. Tax legislation has been patched, doctored, plastered over and jerry-built so often that experts like Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., think it is an affront to logic and common sense.

IF REP. MILLS and experts like him could revise federal taxes according to logic and good judgment, they could reduce the federal income tax to a fraction of what it is now, with a substantial boost in productivity.

They could get rid of inequities that have been running sores for decades.

They could simplify the tax structure until there would be no market for the services of loophole locaters; there would be no loopholes.

But it never can happen — not while taxation is in politics.

A new tax law now will be turned over to the mercies of administrators and courts, who will have to determine in the next four years what the politicians meant by their votes. It is not by any stretch of imagination a tax reform law, just a tax-cutting act.

There is no more reform in it than in a well-filled Christmas stocking on the morning of Dec. 25; i.e., or the eve of a national election.

Ohioans Want To Know

Whether President Johnson's comments last December about frugality in government had anything to do with year-end cuts in Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation budget may determine the outcome to current efforts to have the cuts eliminated.

Gov. Rhodes has asked the President to help Ohio recover the $1 million subtracted from Ohio's $15½ million as of last Dec. 31, following a number of White House statements about the necessity of saving federal funds.

The impact of this blow was intensified by the fact seven months of the fiscal year were gone, which meant the missing million had to be made up in the remaining five months. It amounted to nearly a 22 per cent cut in staff for the balance of the fiscal year, compared with the staff allowed in 1963.

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember the cut has nothing to do with benefits paid to Ohio unemployed, only to money to BUC employes. This aspect may be the reason U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Flushing, representing the 18th Ohio District, has got into a hassle with Willard F. Dudley, Ohio BUC administrator. Perhaps Rep. Hays sees a chance to get in a dirty dig while Mr. Dudley is preoccupied with other matters.

Rep. Hays apparently is nursing a peeve about BUC administration in his district. "It is my view that your funds should be reduced even more so that you can get rid of some of those arrogant know-it-alls whose main mission in life is to deny unemployment compensation, no matter," is Hays' summation of the issue.

Nor are they inclined to take too seriously BUC administrator Dudley's alarm over losing a few hundred employes out of several thousand.

WHAT THEY seriously want to know from the Johnson administration via Labor Secretary Wirtz is whether the Ohio BUC cuts are part of a national project in frugality, like their own governor's austerity program for Ohio.

If so, it would be pretty hard for Gov. Rhodes to knock a federal move to shuck off a few hundred BUC employes in Ohio.

If the true motive is not economy but a form of selective political chastisement, Ohio has every good reason to wonder how a state which sends its money to Washington can ever hope to get a fair share of it back for the purpose it is supposed to cover.

We Do Have Our Troubles

The Maritime Trades Department of AFL-CIO chose a bad time to air the complications that have grown out of the Russian wheat deal.

The unionist's starchy insistence on getting more Russia-bound U.S. wheat into U.S. vessels calls worldwide attention to the fact it is only other countries that are not supposed to sell anything to the Communist bloc. When the United States sells something, it has "good reasons."

The best reason was desire to move as much surplus U.S. wheat as possible out of granaries into the holds of ships that would carry it to Russian ports. The late President Kennedy specified that as much wheat as possible should be transported in U.S. ships, where these were available.

The trouble began right there.

Not only is there an over-all shortage of U.S. ships, thanks to the fact much U.S. capital has gone into foreign registry shipping. There also is a shortage of U.S. ships available for transport of dry cargo like wheat. Relatively few ships are "available."

And beyond that there is a gross shortage of incentive to find ships of U.S. registry, because the grain-shipping job can be done cheaper and in some instances better by ships of foreign registry.

It's a complex, messy problem, and shame on AFL-CIO maritimers for turning the spotlight on it when all of us are scowling at Britain and France for selling buses and trucks to Cuba. At least they aren't squabbling about what ships to use.

Keeping Fit

By Truman Twill

If Stan Musial wants me to be physically fit, I'll try. The new director of the nation's Physical Fitness Program has my confidence.

But he and I must understand a few things about physical fitness first. I want him to know how I feel.

I don't believe physical fitness has much to do with exercise. Exercise, as far as I'm concerned, is for people with special aptitudes and special problems and should be avoided as mass treatment.

I don't believe standards of physical fitness should be determined by the athletically inclined, like Stan Musial. As far as I can make out, athletes as a group are not physically fit.

They are characterized by social ability to do such specific things as hit baseballs with bats, throw and catch footballs, jump, run and strike with their fists. These have little bearing on survival quotient, which is the important thing in physical fitness.

SURVIVAL QUOTIENT is not notably high among athletes. Neither is it high among exercise nuts, beach boys, and other musclemen. Insurance tables show it is notably high only among women.

Women outlive men.

They are better adapted to survival than men.

They are tougher, rougher and better adjusted.

This is so, despite their exposure to one risk men do not face — childbirth. This risk, unlike war, the special hazard of the male, is continuous. But women cope with it as successfully as they cope with everything else.

So along comes the idea that physical fitness would be good for the country and millions of people think of Jayne Mansfield, Y. A. Tittle and Stan Musial, though not necessarily in that order.

If Stan the Man says so, I'll be physically fit. But mostly what I'd prefer to keep on doing is girl-watching, if only to get the hang of how the female of the species works like a dog, hangs on through thick and thin and outlives everybody else.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges plans to have his department assume responsibility for dealing with the national automation problem.

The genial, soft-spoken North Carolinian reached his decision at a secret meeting that top Commerce Department officials held recently at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

Fourteen key aides accompanied the secretary to the brainstorming session. Their purpose was to look to the future and decide how the Commerce Department could best adjust to an age of science and technology.

MR. HODGES and his associates concluded that rapid technological development is inevitable and is to be encouraged.

The Commerce officials devoted part of their time to talking about the human problems that automation creates. Some 1.2 million people are displaced each year by technological advances.

They agreed that continuing assistance must be provided for the displaced workers but they decided that the emphasis must be on special training programs, jobless benefit payments, and other such measures rather than on slowing the pace at which technological improvements are introduced.

The Hodges decision to take over the prime responsibility for automation planning will come as a surprise to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Labor Department officials are devoting a substantial amount of time and money to studying automation and to running the displaced worker training programs.

But the Commerce secretary contends that his department can look at the total question and can take a positive approach to finding acceptable solutions.

SINCE TAKING the Commerce Department post in January, 1961, Mr. Hodges persistently has sought to lift the agency above its historic role as a service center for business.

The automation program is the secretary's latest move to enhance the department's power and prestige. If he pushes the drive as vigorously as the Camp David meeting agreed that he should, there will be a head-on jurisdictional clash with Secretary Wirtz that only President Johnson will be able to resolve.

Must Be Jelly-Jam Don't Shake Like That

"Television is a vast, phosphorescent Mississippi of the senses, on the banks of which one soon can lose one's judgment and eventually lose one's mind."

Alan Gill

Thus, on Nov. 16, 1963, Dr. Jonathan Miller, a former Goldsmith scholar at Cambridge's University College Hospital in England, a continuing student of neurology and psychiatry, a brilliant alumnus of the London-to-Broadway revue, "Beyond the Fringe," and the now-and-then TV critics for the New Yorker, launched into his first critique of television in that magazine.

-:-

BUT LET Dr. Miller go on. "The medium itself is depressing. The shuddering fluorescent jelly of which it's made seems to corrode the eye of the spectator and soften his brain."

Television, wrote the young sawbones, sawing away, "is a low - grade domestic seance in endless session, and the set goes to it with a vengeance, mouthing its gobbet of luminous cheesecloth until the tube burns out."

Television is "a mean, fidgeting irritant, far smaller than one's own field of vision, flickering away in the corner of the eye like a dull, damaged butterfly." It's "a mangy little electronic membrane."

The good doctor, I think, is a credit to his distinguished second calling—TV criticism, of course—as his vocabulary ranges from the musical ("diapason" is a word he likes) to the geological ("magma") to the medical ("peristalsis") to the disarmingly American ("Powee!").

For Jonathan Miller, after all his words about shuddering fluorescent jellies, recently took his very life into his hands by co-authoring a full-hour television parody, "A Trip to the Moon," based on a Jules Verne adventure, and starring in it himself.

The exercise showed up on CBS - TV's "Chronicle" last week. And in it, Miller proved, for the first time in television history, that you can lick 'em and join 'em.

It's true that his fellow critics, smelling treason perhaps, tore into the fellow in the cool, clear light of morning. They felt that "A Trip to the Moon" was little more than a "gobbet of luminous cheesecloth" and that it flickered weakly through its 60 minutes like "a dull, damaged butterfly."

It must be jelly, they seemed to be saying, 'cause jam don't shake like that.

-:-

WELL, I MUST ADMIT that Dr. Miller's moonshot was static for the most part, as he and his fellow "Beyond the Fringe" players became the doughty explorers of the Baltimore Gun Club thrashing out the details of their lunar expedition.

After much talk, they set the time of the takeoff at 11:47 p.m., Dec. 1, 1866, fixed the length of the launching cannon at 955 feet and selected nitrate of potash for their explosive.

But these deliberations, in their fusty, quiet way, were, to Vernians like myself, most intriguing and delicious. There were no real jokes; but jokes would have been sacrilegious, don't you see?

VERNIANS cheered when the club's visionary member, J. P. Barbican (played by the tall and agile Dr. Miller in a magnificent set of chin whiskers, a pair of silver-rimmed spectacles and a fine stovepipe hat), necessary for the voyage.

"I'll put up the family plot," he announced, "—500 rolling acres in Bridgeport, Conn. My father is buried there and his father before him. The land is valued at $50 an acre."

"What if,—" said old Elphinstone, his ear trumpet at the ready. "What if I die?" asked Barbican. "I shall go willingly to the Potter's Field."

-:-

THAT WAS the sort of talk we heard throughout "A Trip to the Moon."

"Frenchman," said Barbican to a Gallic companion, when Monsieur Ardan has suggested they hollow out their space capsule to solve the problem of passengers, "I like the cut of your jib."

There was talk of "grace under pressure" to rib a bandied-about literary expression of the '20s. And the countdown for the launching was flashed on the screen in Roman numerals.

Obviously, the show wasn't everybody's dish of Chateau de Pape. But in a small way, I think Jonathan Miller corroded no eyes, softened no brains and in fact released a rather colorful little butterfly for us to watch and enjoy.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MEYERS

Throwing Stones Can Prove Dangerous

A good many children lose an eye from a stone or a stick thrown or wielded by another. Sometimes the victim threw the first stone or brandished the first stick. Sometimes the occasion was a fight, or a rumpus started in fun, or just play. Playing with sticks and stones may begin between chidlren as young as four or six. The lone child finds there's not much fun with these things by himself. He likes to hit or strike another child with them and do better than this other child at markmanship and at dodging the stick or stone.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Between 7 and 12, perhaps, is the time when children most often fight with sticks and stones. Having a stone thrown in fun at a child may cause him to throw one back. Then the contest may become a fight with serious consequences.

—:—

WHEN YOU SEE your child, 4, 8 or even 13, throw a stone in fun or anger at another person or hit him with a stick, treat the act as a serious matter. After one warning, punish the offender effectively. Do likewise when you see him throwing a stone at any living creature.

Throwing stones may prove still more serious by a child failing to get his way or get along with a person or group of persons. If he withdraws a short distance and throws stones, he puts himself in greater danger of being hit by one or more stones thrown back at him.

His playmates may dub him a coward for running away and throwing stones at them. They will be less ready to accept him as one of them later. He will feel more frustrated on seeing his angry efforts were in vain.

If you know your child sometimes resorts to such behavior, when he leaves the team or gang in rage, you might be able to advise him persuasively never to throw stones. You can be most persuasive and he most receptive at a time remote from such experience, when you and he feel relaxed and companionable.

TOTS NEED TO learn early that they must not throw stones at cars, windows of buildings or any person or animal they can harm thereby. When you first see your child doing so, turn him over your knee and smack him soundly.

Continue to be strict and decisive about his throwing stones at things he can harm. New York City spends almost a million dollars a year replacing windows in school buildings destroyed by vandals, chiefly children.

Beginnnig with the tot, take him to the back yard or another safe place and let him throw at a target you choose to his heart's content.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" and "Teaching Child Care of Property," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Medical Society Discusses County Co-Ordination Move

The recommendation and hope for a greater co-ordination of health department services throughout Columbiana County was voiced by the County Medical Society at a meeting Tuesday night at the Hotel Wick at Lisbon.

About 27 attended the session at which Dr. Thomas Gardner of the Ohio Department of Health spoke on the problems of public health.

He discussed the countywide health systems of a number of counties throughout Ohio, and pointed out that Columbiana County, one of the smaller in the state, has five departments —the county's, East Liverpool's, Salem's, Wellsville's and East Palestine's.

The speaker outlined the advantages and disadvantages of a unified department for the whole county.

The physicians expressed the hope that an effort be made toward further co-ordination of the five health districts or study of a single health department.

Various groups in the county have urged a unification of the health departments in the county, citing the advantages of economy of operation, efficiency, elimination of duplication, better records maintenance.

Dr. Janis Lauva of Wellsville, president, was in charge. Next meeting will be March 17.

Garden Calendar May Be Obtained

Tips on pest control are featured in the 1964 Garden Calendars available to Hancock County residents at the office of Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, in New Cumberland.

The calendars also list recommended vegetable varieties, planting dates and timely tips on gardening.

Johnson said copies may be obtained by calling his office at the Courthouse Annex or by writing him at Box 8, New Cumberland.

He advised the annual upper Ohio Valley Horticultural Institute is slated Feb. 27 at 10:30 a. m. at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. Dr. Forrest Kirkpatrick of the Wheeling Steel Corp. will be speaker at a noon lunch.

Gardeners and farmers should send soil tests now to West Virginia University for indication of fertilizer requirements if the results are to be back in time for spring planting, Johnson said.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe

It's got a frisky new engine
(that puts superior traction under you)

And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Why? Rear-engine traction. The engine weight over Corvair's rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power without any assist from special winter driving paraphernalia.

Reassuring to know this time of year—and also in the months to come when all that tidy white countryside turns into a melting pot that's likely to add to the misery.

Another thing about Corvair's engine: It's bigger this year. Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

You'll also appreciate not having to fool around with antifreeze. And not having to flush the radiator or fuss with hose connections. The engine's air cooled.

Matter of fact, we have a feeling that if more people knew what a cinch Corvair makes winter driving, there wouldn't be quite so many looking for excuses to duck South this time every year.

But then you never know. Corvair's a kick to drive in warm weather, too. Why not try one at your dealer's and decide for yourself?

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MEYERS

Throwing Stones Can Prove Dangerous

A good many children lose an eye from a stone or a stick thrown or wielded by another. Sometimes the victim threw the first stone or brandished the first stick. Sometimes the occasion was a fight, or a rumpus started in fun, or just play. Playing with sticks and stones may begin between chidlren as young as four or six. The lone child finds there's not much fun with these things by himself. He likes to hit or strike another child with them and do better than this other child at markmanship and at dodging the stick or stone.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Between 7 and 12, perhaps, is the time when children most often fight with sticks and stones. Having a stone thrown in fun at a child may cause him to throw one back. Then the contest may become a fight with serious consequences.

—:—

WHEN YOU SEE your child, 4, 8 or even 13, throw a stone in fun or anger at another person or hit him with a stick, treat the act as a serious matter. After one warning, punish the offender effectively. Do likewise when you see him throwing a stone at any living creature.

Throwing stones may prove still more serious by a child failing to get his way or get along with a person or group of persons. If he withdraws a short distance and throws stones, he puts himself in greater danger of being hit by one or more stones thrown back at him.

His playmates may dub him a coward for running away and throwing stones at them. They will be less ready to accept him as one of them later. He will feel more frustrated on seeing his angry efforts were in vain.

If you know your child sometimes resorts to such behavior, when he leaves the team or gang in rage, you might be able to advise him persuasively never to throw stones. You can be most persuasive and he most receptive at a time remote from such experience, when you and he feel relaxed and companionable.

TOTS NEED TO learn early that they must not throw stones at cars, windows of buildings or any person or animal they can harm thereby. When you first see your child doing so, turn him over your knee and smack him soundly.

Continue to be strict and decisive about his throwing stones at things he can harm. New York City spends almost a million dollars a year replacing windows in school buildings destroyed by vandals, chiefly children.

Beginnnig with the tot, take him to the back yard or another safe place and let him throw at a target you choose to his heart's content.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" and "Teaching Child Care of Property," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Medical Society Discusses County Co-Ordination Move

The recommendation and hope for a greater co-ordination of health department services throughout Columbiana County was voiced by the County Medical Society at a meeting Tuesday night at the Hotel Wick at Lisbon.

About 27 attended the session at which Dr. Thomas Gardner of the Ohio Department of Health spoke on the problems of public health.

He discussed the countywide health systems of a number of counties throughout Ohio, and pointed out that Columbiana County, one of the smaller in the state, has five departments —the county's, East Liverpool's, Salem's, Wellsville's and East Palestine's.

The speaker outlined the advantages and disadvantages of a unified department for the whole county.

The physicians expressed the hope that an effort be made toward further co-ordination of the five health districts or study of a single health department.

Various groups in the county have urged a unification of the health departments in the county, citing the advantages of economy of operation, efficiency, elimination of duplication, better records maintenance.

Dr. Janis Lauva of Wellsville, president, was in charge. Next meeting will be March 17.

Garden Calendar May Be Obtained

Tips on pest control are featured in the 1964 Garden Calendars available to Hancock County residents at the office of Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, in New Cumberland.

The calendars also list recommended vegetable varieties, planting dates and timely tips on gardening.

Johnson said copies may be obtained by calling his office at the Courthouse Annex or by writing him at Box 8, New Cumberland.

He advised the annual upper Ohio Valley Horticultural Institute is slated Feb. 27 at 10:30 a. m. at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. Dr. Forrest Kirkpatrick of the Wheeling Steel Corp. will be speaker at a noon lunch.

Gardeners and farmers should send soil tests now to West Virginia University for indication of fertilizer requirements if the results are to be back in time for spring planting, Johnson said.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine
(that puts superior traction under you)

And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Why? Rear-engine traction. The engine weight over Corvair's rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power without any assist from special winter driving paraphernalia.

Reassuring to know this time of year—and also in the months to come when all that tidy white countryside turns into a melting pot that's likely to add to the misery.

Another thing about Corvair's engine: It's bigger this year. Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

You'll also appreciate not having to fool around with antifreeze. And not having to flush the radiator or fuss with hose connections. The engine's air cooled.

Matter of fact, we have a feeling that if more people knew what a cinch Corvair makes winter driving, there wouldn't be quite so many looking for excuses to duck South this time every year.

But then you never know. Corvair's a kick to drive in warm weather, too. Why not try one at your dealer's and decide for yourself?

CHRIST CLEANSES THE TEMPLE

Only once in His life, did Christ show anger. Matthew tells the story in two dramatic paragraphs:

"And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves.

"And said unto them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves." (Matthew XXI:12-13) 2-20

Turn Daily Routine Into Exercise

Most softies would be happy to ease through exercise — if they had the time and the energy. Look into some informal calisthenics that require no extra time and actually save energy.

Ida Jean Kain

It's wonderful to use our muscles according to nature's design. We become used to doing things in set ways and habitually use certain muscles, neglecting others. It's human nature to assume that any movement which feels natural is right, but that doesn't make it right.

—:—

TO GET OFF to a good start, check your posture. Efficient movements can only stem from correct body alignment — with head, shoulders and chest, and the hip girdle centered exactly one over the other. Thus centered, the bones are self-supporting. There is no straining at the connections or pulling on the muscles, and no squandering of energy. In sitting, standing, working and walking, good posture saves energy.

Homemakers, let's get on with the daily routine. Correct bending can afford a surprising amount of exercise, keep knee joints young and save your back. In dusting low objects and picking up things from the floor, bend your knees — keep your back straight. In coming up, use the powerful thigh muscles and pull up-and-in snugly with girdle muscles. That's streamlining.

In lifting a heavy object from the floor, the same principle applies — go into a deep knee bend, keep your feet close together, one slightly ahead of the other, and near the object to be picked up. Don't put your back into the lifting. When you come up, let the lifting be done with the leg muscles, taking the action through the thighs.

HOMEMAKERS, check to see that work surfaces allow you to work without stooping. For example, two inches cut off the legs of my oversize desk allows me to work without strain. The ironing board, the sink and all work tables should be the height which permits work without stooping. If your sink is too low, perhaps the situation can be remedied by placing a wooden rack under the dishpan. A too-low table could be raised with blocks.

Since most household tasks tend to pull shoulders forward, counteract by circling alternate arms backward in wide circles, moving the arms at the shoulder. This is ever so freeing. Stretch slim through the middle as you circle and you'll be streamlining the middle measurement too. Feels wonderful!

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Get A Lift With Posture. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Dogs' Poisoning Stirs Warning Of Hancock Warden

Because of the continued poisoning of dogs in Weirton Heights, Hancock County Dog Warden John Biela issued a strong warning to all residents today, cautioning they face a possible jail term and fine if apprehended poisoning animals.

Biela said the person responsible for poisoning the animals is liable to maximum penalty of $200 and costs and six months in jail.

Three dogs and two cats owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dhayer, 148 Phillips St., Weirton Heights, have been poisoned in the last year with the latest case occurring Sunday in Dhayer's yard where a dog had been confined, Biela said.

The family has offered a $100 reward, he said.

The poison also could endanger young children, especially with snow on the ground, the dog warden said, explaining the youngsters might become overheated at play and eat some snow with poison on it.

Tax Cut

expected to pump an extra $800 million into the economy each month.

The biggest administration victory came in the last-minute decision Wednesday to knock out a House provision reducing the capital gains tax on assets held two years or more.

There might have been trouble with the compromise measure in the Senate if this cut had been retained.

It would have lowered the capital gains rate to 40 per cent of the normal levy, with a 21 per cent ceiling, on profits made from sales of stock and other property held two years or more. The present rate is 50 per cent of the regular tax with a 25 per cent maximum.

Elimination of the provision saved a $260 million annual revenue loss in the long run.

The major provisions in the bill were the same in both Senate and House bills.

The new personal rate schedule will run from 14 to 70 per cent compared with 20 to 91 per cent now.

Table

one for each dependent. A married couple has two, a married couple with two children four, etc.

(xx) There is no withholding at this level, under present law or the new bill.

This table reflects the difference between the new and old withholding rates. How much tax you actually will owe depends on a variety of factors and the withholding is only roughly gauged to your tax bill —it may come out right at the end of the year, or you may get a refund or have to pay a difference.

To compute the difference on wages and salaries above $200 a week, take the appropriate figure for $200 and add 4 per cent of the excess over $200.

The prosecutor said Ted Brown, Ohio secretary of state, does not believe there is a conflict of interest in the Gosney case, but said Brown has not been asked for an official opinion.

Gosney, reached this morning at "Glenn for Senator" headquarters at Columbus, said that if the two posts are incompatible, it would affect Republican and Democrats all across Ohio who are on the election boards and who work for various governmental leaders on the county and state levels.

Mauro Heads Glenn's Campaign For County

Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem has been appointed chairman of the "Glenn for Senator" campaign in Columbiana County, Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, announced today at the Columbus headquarters of the election drive on behalf of John Glenn, astronaut seeking the Senate nomination.

Mauro, a native of Leetonia, is county Democratic vice chairman, former Kiwanis lieutenant governor, and former candidate for county judge. He is married and has three children. Mauro is expected to announce his committees later.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-nine freed Cuban fishermen boarded their four trawlers today to sail for their homeland but were delayed, apparently by mechanical trouble on one of the boats.

The Coast Guard cutters Cape Darby and Cape York and a patrol boat stood by to escort the trawlers into international waters.

public schools today after having been closed Wednesday. Stanton Local schools also were open as usual today.

Beaver Local School District officials had planned to resume sessions today, but bus drivers reported secondary roads icy and snow - covered and drivers were unable to turn buses around at some sites.

Authorities hope Beaver Local schools will reopen Friday.

Southern Local schools, which remained open yesterday, reported buses late this morning, but absenteeism is about normal. One bus from the Wayne area, stalled with 20 youngsters near Lisbon yesterday, finally took those pupils home and 30 others were not picked up. Most of them were in school today, however. The Elkton Retarded Children's School also was closed yesterday.

Chester Whitehouse, superintendent of the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia, said all 18 crews returned to cindering and plowing last night. Wind caused some drifting.

Tax Cut

expected to pump an extra $800 million into the economy each month.

The biggest administration victory came in the last-minute decision Wednesday to knock out a House provision reducing the capital gains tax on assets held two years or more.

There might have been trouble with the compromise measure in the Senate if this cut had been retained.

It would have lowered the capital gains rate to 40 per cent of the normal levy, with a 21 per cent ceiling, on profits made from sales of stock and other property held two years or more. The present rate is 50 per cent of the regular tax with a 25 per cent maximum.

Elimination of the provision saved a $260 million annual revenue loss in the long run.

The major provisions in the bill were the same in both Senate and House bills.

The new personal rate schedule will run from 14 to 70 per cent compared with 20 to 91 per cent now.

one for each dependent. A married couple has two, a married couple with two children four, etc.

(xx) There is no withholding at this level, under present law or the new bill.

This table reflects the difference between the new and old withholding rates. How much tax you actually will owe depends on a variety of factors and the withholding is only roughly gauged to your tax bill —it may come out right at the end of the year, or you may get a refund or have to pay a difference.

To compute the difference on wages and salaries above $200 a week, take the appropriate figure for $200 and add 4 per cent of the excess over $200.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 14 and my brother is 16. We've read so much about cigarettes causing lung cancer and being bad for the heart that we are scared to death.

We aren't worried about ourselves. We don't smoke and we never want to start. It's our dad we are writing about. He smokes between two and three packs of cigarettes a day. Once in awhile when he runs out he acts like a caged lion.

Mom has been after Dad to quit for a long time but he says, "What's the use? I've been smoking for 25 years. The damage is done now."

Dad has a hacking cough and gets winded when he walks a flight of stairs. The doctor has said cigarettes are poison to him but he argues with the doctor the same way he argues with Mom.

Do you think if he quit smoking now it might help him live longer?—HIS KIDS.

Dear Kids: I don't know if it's too late for your dad or not. I do know it's a lead-pipe cinch that he will add to the damage if he continues to smoke.

My major concern is the youth of this country—you whose lives lie ahead. If you are tempted to take up this foolish habit just remember:

1. Smoking never has been known to improve man's physical condition or add to his years.

2. Smoking undeniably has shortened the lives of many.

3. Smoking is expensive.

4. Smoking is neither sophisticated nor stylish.

5. In the face of the damning evidence, particularly the surgeon general's report, anyone who takes up smoking is stupid.

So who needs it?

Hidden Gift

Dear Ann: My friend has many sterling qualities. I value her friendship and would not want to offend her. Please tell me what to do.

For her birthday I gave her a costly piece of jewelry which I selected with special care. It was something I would have loved for myself.

She acknowledged the gift warmly but I sensed a superficiality in her tone of voice—as if she was merely being polite. Three months have passed and I've been in her company at least two dozen times. She has yet to wear my gift.

I'm tempted to tell her if she doesn't like the gift to please exchange it for something she would enjoy. Would this be rude? I need your frank opinion. —CHOMPING AT THE BIT.

Dear Bit: Stop chomping and forget it. What you have in mind would be embarrassing to her—and to you.

One of your friend's "sterling qualities" is not graciousness. She should have worn the gift in your presence at least once—even if she thought it was atrocious.

Laughing Irish

Dear Ann: My husband and I both enjoy your column so much. We roared at your definition of "Lace Curtain Irish"—and then my husband added his own line. Will you print it?

"Lace Curtain Irish are people who have fruit in the house when nobody is sick—and flowers when nobody is dead."—THE McCARTHYS OF WHITE PLAINS.

Dear McCarthys: Thank you, not only for your husband's improvement on my definition, but for your signature. Several Irish readers wrote to tell me they were insulted. I need some McCarthys on my side.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prominent Women's Lives Reviewed In Class Session

The lives of several prominent women were reviewed by Mrs. Richard Brian for the meeting of the Dia Konia Class of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night with Mrs. Bayard Hunsicker of Pennsylvania Ave.

Using the subject theme, "The Hand of Women In the Destiny of the World," she spoke on Frances Willard, an educator and co-founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Helen Keller, celebrity blinded in early childhood who became a writer and lecturer.

In the field of nursing, she touched upon the careers of Florence Nightingale, who brought worldwide attention to nursing as a profession, and Clara Barton, who worked diligently to organize the Red Cross and became the first president.

Speaking of Emily Post, Mrs. Brian commented her name was synonymous with social conduct and she is noted for her books on etiquette. Her concluding subject was Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, who rose from obscurity to world fame through her scientific experiments with her husband.

Mrs. Stanley Rose, president, opened the meeting with a devotion thought. Reports were heard from Mrs. Emmett Lawrence, treasurer, and Mrs. Delbert Tittle, building fund chairman.

Refreshments were served 17 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reid J. Calcott, Miss Alta Flowers, Mrs. Howard Goddard and Miss Winifred Calcott.

The buffet table, covered with an organdy applique cloth over green, featured a centerpiece of blue flowers in a white vase. Patriotic appointments were used with flags as favors.

Next session will be March 17 with Mrs. Lawrence of Riverside Park. Mrs. Rose and Miss Hazel Poe have the program. Mrs. James Sheets is social chairman.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 14 and my brother is 16. We've read so much about cigarettes causing lung cancer and being bad for the heart that we are scared to death.

We aren't worried about ourselves. We don't smoke and we never want to start. It's our dad we are writing about. He smokes between two and three packs of cigarettes a day. Once in awhile when he runs out he acts like a caged lion.

Mom has been after Dad to quit for a long time but he says, "What's the use? I've been smoking for 25 years. The damage is done now."

Dad has a hacking cough and gets winded when he walks a flight of stairs. The doctor has said cigarettes are poison to him but he argues with the doctor the same way he argues with Mom.

Do you think if he quit smoking now it might help him live longer?—HIS KIDS.

Dear Kids: I don't know if it's too late for your dad or not. I do know it's a lead-pipe cinch that he will add to the damage if he continues to smoke.

My major concern is the youth of this country—you whose lives lie ahead. If you are tempted to take up this foolish habit just remember:

1. Smoking never has been known to improve man's physical condition or add to his years.

2. Smoking undeniably has shortened the lives of many.

3. Smoking is expensive.

4. Smoking is neither sophisticated nor stylish.

5. In the face of the damning evidence, particularly the surgeon general's report, anyone who takes up smoking is stupid.

So who needs it?

Hidden Gift

Dear Ann: My friend has many sterling qualities. I value her friendship and would not want to offend her. Please tell me what to do.

For her birthday I gave her a costly piece of jewelry which I selected with special care. It was something I would have loved for myself.

She acknowledged the gift warmly but I sensed a superficiality in her tone of voice—as if she was merely being polite. Three months have passed and I've been in her company at least two dozen times. She has yet to wear my gift.

I'm tempted to tell her if she doesn't like the gift to please exchange it for something she would enjoy. Would this be rude? I need your frank opinion. —CHOMPING AT THE BIT.

Dear Bit: Stop chomping and forget it. What you have in mind would be embarrassing to her—and to you.

One of your friend's "sterling qualities" is not graciousness. She should have worn the gift in your presence at least once—even if she thought it was atrocious.

Laughing Irish

Dear Ann: My husband and I both enjoy your column so much. We roared at your definition of "Lace Curtain Irish"—and then my husband added his own line. Will you print it?

"Lace Curtain Irish are people who have fruit in the house when nobody is sick—and flowers when nobody is dead."—THE McCARTHYS OF WHITE PLAINS.

Dear McCarthys: Thank you, not only for your husband's improvement on my definition, but for your signature. Several Irish readers wrote to tell me they were insulted. I need some McCarthys on my side.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prominent Women's Lives Reviewed In Class Session

The lives of several prominent women were reviewed by Mrs. Richard Brian for the meeting of the Dia Konia Class of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night with Mrs. Bayard Hunsicker of Pennsylvania Ave.

Using the subject theme, "The Hand of Women In the Destiny of the World," she spoke on Frances Willard, an educator and co-founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Helen Keller, celebrity blinded in early childhood who became a writer and lecturer.

In the field of nursing, she touched upon the careers of Florence Nightingale, who brought worldwide attention to nursing as a profession, and Clara Barton, who worked diligently to organize the Red Cross and became the first president.

Speaking of Emily Post, Mrs. Brian commented her name was synonymous with social conduct and she is noted for her books on etiquette. Her concluding subject was Marie Curie, discoverer of radium, who rose from obscurity to world fame through her scientific experiments with her husband.

Mrs. Stanley Rose, president, opened the meeting with a devotion thought. Reports were heard from Mrs. Emmett Lawrence, treasurer, and Mrs. Delbert Tittle, building fund chairman.

Refreshments were served 17 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reid J. Calcott, Miss Alta Flowers, Mrs. Howard Goddard and Miss Winifred Calcott.

The buffet table, covered with an organdy applique cloth over green, featured a centerpiece of blue flowers in a white vase. Patriotic appointments were used with flags as favors.

Guests were Mrs. Daisy Wilson, Mrs. Bernice Curran, Miss Maude McKinney and Mrs. Lester Hall.

Next session will be March 17 with Mrs. Lawrence of Riverside Park. Mrs. Rose and Miss Hazel Poe have the program. Mrs. James Sheets is social chairman.

McKinley PTA Hears Mayor At Wellsville

Mayor William H. Daugherty spoke on "PTA and Education" at the meeting of the McKinley Parent - Teacher Association Monday night in the Wellsville school.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Hazel Fraser and a reading on "Founder's Day" was given by Mrs. Garnet Smith. Mrs. Edna McIntosh, president, named a nominating committee, John Porter, Mrs. Arlene Arnold, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. McIntosh. Mrs. Fraser's first grade won the attendance banner and refreshments were served by the second and third grade homeroom mothers.

Sewing Bee Planned For Pughtown Group

A sewing bee was planned when the Friendship Class of the Fairview Presbyterian Church at Pughtown met Monday with Mrs. Ralph Huff. A bake sale also planned was to be held this afternoon at the Harl Stover garage.

The sewing bee will be held Wednesday with Mrs. Donald Glenn, to begin at 10 a. m. Devotions were led by Mrs. Jane Stover. Lunch was served 14 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Bailey, Jr.

Weirton Brings 11-Game Winning Streak To MA Friday

★ ★ ★ Has Williams Cooled Off? ★ ★ ★

This hasn't been an exceptionally good month in the scoring column for Ron (Fritz) Williams, Weirton's super star, who will be making his appearance before a sellout crowd Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

The fact that Williams hasn't been on his usual form points out strongly that Weirton has more than one player. His teammates have taken up the slack on nights when Fritz hasn't been hitting so well or running into foul trouble and the Riders have won 11 straight games.

WEIRTON hasn't been defeated since Steubenville Big Red did it in December, 69-65, at the Community Arena. The Riders avenged this loss, 64-60, two weeks ago on the same floor.

To show you how well Weirton has come along as a team, in that first game with Big Red Williams tossed in 43 points, but Weirton lost. In the last game with Steubenville Fritz scored only 18 and left at the end of three quarters with five personal fouls, but Weirton won it by a four - point spread.

—:—

IN WEIRTON'S last contest Monday, Williams was held to 15 and had an off night, but the Riders extended their streak with a 56-50 win over a strong Wheeling Central five.

There's no doubt about it, Williams probably is the best cager ever to come out of West Virginia and could easily be acclaimed as one of the top high school players in the country.

The 6-2, two - time all-stater, who led Weirton to a state Class AAA championship last season, is averaging a little more than 30 points per game.

—:—

HE WENT over the 1,000-point mark last season and his career records show as a freshman he tallied 257 points in the regular season and 15 in the tourney. His sophomore year showed 341 in season play and 95 for the tournament. Last season was a big year for Fritz with 603 points, plus another 149 in tournament games.

His top effort for the season was 47 against Parkersburg. Other high spots include 43 against Big Red, 42 in the Wheeling game and 40 against Bellaire.

FRITZ was held to 11 in the Follansbee game and 15 Monday in the Wheeling Central contest for his low marks of the season.

Weirton will have the height advantage Friday night, with four starters hitting 6 feet or better. Ted Tomasovich, No. 2 scorer for the Riders, stands 6-3 and will be at one forward. Alvin Woodbury 6-6 will open at center, with guards Ed Harvard, a 6-foot speedster, and Dave Trimiar 5-10.

★ ★ ★ Stover Out Of Weir Game ★ ★ ★

Coach Jim Harris announced this morning that Randy Stover, the Potters' 6-4 pivot man, would miss Friday night's game with Weirton and may not be ready for Monday's tournament opener with Toronto.

—:—

STOVER has been bothered with flu and an extreme sore throat and was running a high temperature.

Harris pointed out the Potters will miss Stover who has shown much improvement and has become a scoring threat especially in the last half of the season. Junior Frank Taylor probably will replace Stover.

Sickness and bad weather interrupted the Potters' practice this week. Bob Forzano and Stover missed practice Tuesday and starters Frank McComas and Bill Hall showed up, but complained of being ill.

Harris did not hold practice Wednesday when school was closed because of heavy snow.

East Liverpool came up with its best performance last week in a mild upset victory over Martins Ferry. The attack was the most balanced effort of the season, with McComas scoring 22, Forzano and Bob Maltarich 21 each and Stover 19.

—:—

McCOMAS and Forzano are running one - two as top scorers for the Blue and White. McComas is averaging 13.9 a game with 236 markers, while Forzano has 228 points and a 13.4 average.

The 86 points scored against Martins Ferry were the high for the season.

Friday's game with Weirton also will serve as a warmup for East Liverpool's tournament opener on Monday against Toronto at 8:30 at the Community Arena in Steubenville.

Few Tickets On Sale At MA Friday Night

A limited number of general admission tickets will go on sale Friday night at Memorial Auditorium before the Weirton-ELHS game which is a near sellout. Doors at the MA will open at 6:30 p. m.

Ohio Takes MAC Lead, Tops Miami

By The Associated Press

Ohio University gained undisputed possession of first place in the Mid-American Conference Wednesday night by defeating Miami 63-60 and knocking the Redskins from the league's top rung.

The victory gave the Bobcats an 8-2 loop showing with two games remaining while Miami's record slipped to 8-3. The Redskins have one conference game left.

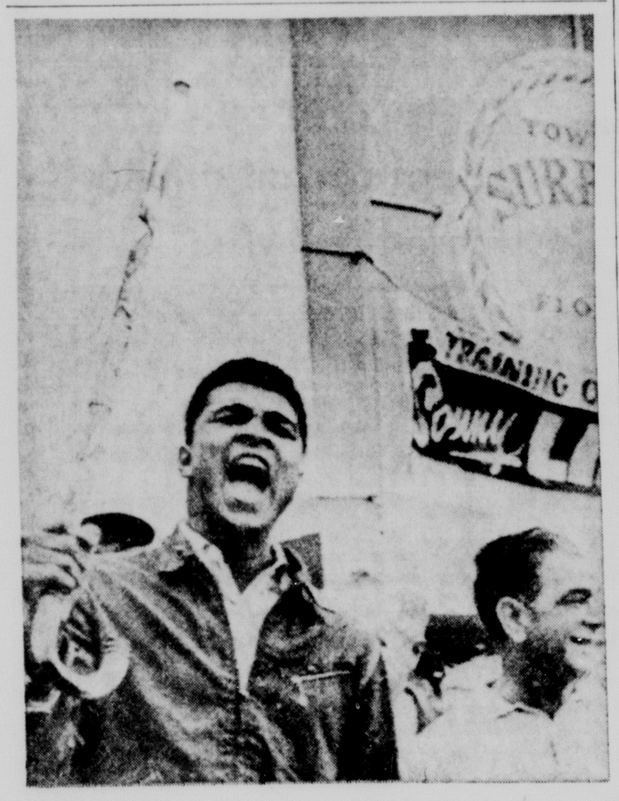
Ohio's final MAC games are against Kent State and Toledo, both on the Ohio U. floor. Miami's remaining contest against Toledo likewise is a home game.

The two teams were about as evenly matched as could be Wednesday night. Each hit 25 of 57 shots from the field. Ohio, however, cashed in 13 of 23 free throws while Miami, which missed several with the one-and one rule in effect in the crucial late stages, could muster only 10 of 19.

Jerry Jackson had 17 points and Don Hilt 16 for the Bobcats while Jeff Gehring of Miami led all scorers with 18.

Elsewhere, Central State downed Wilmington 87-61 after jumping off to an 18-3 lead. Ken Wilburn had 23 points and 18 rebounds to pace the Marauders, who now have won 21 games compared to only two setbacks.

In other games, Defiance nipped Adrian (Mich.) 83-82, Baldwin-Wallace topped Geneva (Pa.) 90-65; Fenn beat Case Tech 74-52; Mount Union downed Ashland 74-64, and Findlay rolled over Malone of Canton 124-82 on the losers' court.



HEAVYWEIGHT challenger Cassius Clay waves a cane and shouts that he's waiting for the 'Big Bear.' Clay stood in front of Sonny Liston's training camp on Miami Beach Wednesday but Liston met Clay and the pair shook hands as the crowd expected a display of tempers. (UPI Telephoto)

Finley Must Answer American Loop Friday

BOSTON (AP) — The American League calls Charles O. Finley, recalcitrant owner of the Kansas City Athletics, on the carpet Friday.

The question that the league wants answered is:

Why hasn't Finley signed a lease with Kansas City so the A's will have a place to play this season?

The baseball season opens in less than two months. Spring training starts next week.

AL President Joe Cronin called the meeting last weekend after a second extension of the deadline for lease-signing expired Saturday night.

Originally, Finley wanted to move his club from Kansas City because of poor attendance. But he was turned down by the American League owners in his bid to shift his franchise to Louisville, Ky. The vote was 9-1. Finley was the only one voting for the shift.

Finley then insisted that he would sign a Municipal Stadium lease in Kansas City for two years. And for two years only.

City officials held out for a four-year lease.

Many meetings and much discussion by both sides and by attorneys failed to settle the differences.

The American League also has threatened to take Finley's franchise away from him—to kick him out of the league, in other words.

Finley replied that the league has no power to take his franchise and has threatened to sue the league for refusing him permission to move to Louisville.

Finley has retained attorney Louis Nizer for the threatened suit.

Frisco Halts Royals Long Win Streak

By The Associated Press

San Francisco's championship minded Warriors are receiving valuable aid from a couple of highly unexpected sources.

The Warriors have moved further ahead of their two Western Division challengers the past two nights, thanks to the National Basketball Association's cellar teams—New York and Detroit. San Francisco now leads second-place St. Louis by two games and third-place Los Angeles by 5½ games.

The Warriors stopped Cincinnati's 12-game winning streak 108-101 Wednesday night while last-place New York of the Eastern Division outscored St. Louis 120-114 and last-place Detroit of the West edged Los Angeles 116-115.

New York sneaked by Los Angeles Tuesday night 118-117.

In the other NBA game Wednesday night Philadelphia whipped Baltimore 130-122.

San Francisco used an unusual defensive maneuver in halting the league's longest winning streak of the season. Wayne Hightower, who normally plays up front, guarded Oscar Robertson, a backcourt man.

Robertson still scored 29 points, not a bad night even for the Royals' ace, but the move seemed to bother Cincinnati's offense at the start.

Nevertheless, the Royals recovered sufficiently in time to take a 59-57 halftime lead. Hightower, however, sparked a third-quarter spurt that put San Francisco ahead to stay. Hightower finished with 29 points while Wilt Chamberlain had 32.

New York, winning its second straight after nine consecutive losses, overcame a 15-point deficit and whipped the Hawks. A 12-point splurge in three minutes during the third period brought New York to within two points 84-82.

Bailey Howell's tip-in with 14 seconds remaining kept Detroit from setting a team record for losses in one season and knocked Los Angeles back another notch.

Howell's shot wiped out a Lakers' rally that brought them from a 96-86 disadvantage early in the final period to a one-point lead with 29 seconds left.

Philadelphia, paced by Chet Walker's 29 points, had little trouble with Baltimore. The 76ers scored 16 of the game's first 19 points, then rolled to a 69-54 halftime lead. Philadelphia scored 39 of its points in the opening quarter.

Denver Aide Goes To Skins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Bill McPeak reached into the "other league" today to hire a defensive backfield coach for the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

He signed Ed Hughes, who held the same job last fall with the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League. Hughes had coached the defensive backfield for another AFL team, the Dallas Texans, three seasons before that.

However, Hughes' playing experience was all in the NFL, first with the Los Angeles Rams and then with the New York Giants. He was a regular defensive back on two Eastern Division and one NFL championship team in New York.

Crestview Bows Out Of Tourney

CANTON — Crestview only made one out of 16 shots in the second quarter and Lowellville gained a wide margin it never lost to eliminate the Rebels, 60-49, Wednesday night at the Canton Auditorium in the Class A Sectional tournament.

Double-Duty Athlete Goes To Spring Camp

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Durable Dave DeBusschere, the only pro athlete still doing double duty in basketball and baseball, is heading for spring training with a weak leg, a strong arm and a determined cake-and-eat-it philosophy.

DeBusschere signed his baseball contract with the Chicago White Sox Wednesday, then received permission from the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association to leave the club and head for spring training.

DeBusschere has been sidelined most of the NBA season with a broken leg received in a game against Philadelphia, Nov. 6. He returned to the line-up in January but aggravated the injury, and has been sidelined ever since.

Until the injury, DeBusschere had taken a couple of big steps in his basketball career, and was averaging 8.6 points a game. He has taken only uncertain steps in his bid to break into the White Sox' pitching rotation.

A 23-year-old right-hander, DeBusschere was used as a spot starter and as a reliever for the White Sox last year—his second in the majors—and compiled a 3-4 record with a 3.11 earned run average in 24 games.

DeBusschere, who became the last of the two sport men when Gene Conley of the Boston Red Sox and New York Knicks gave up his basketball career, was given permission to leave the Pistons by Detroit owner Fred Zollner.

"The team physician has indicated it will take two or three weeks for DeBusschere to completely recover from the leg injury," said Zollner in explaining his decision to let DeBusschere go. "By that time the basketball season will be over."

The opportunity to leave the Pistons will enable DeBusschere to round into baseball form, even though his leg is weak, and prepare for a full-scale assault on a starters' berth with the White Sox. He will join the advance camp Wednesday at Sarasota, Fla.

Despite the basketball injury, DeBusschere says he is going to continue in both sports. His philosophy is that the two-sport parlay is "like breakfast and dinner." He explains it this way:

"They're really two different meals, but they both taste good. It just depends on when you eat them."

Other players signing Wednesday were pitchers Chuck Estrada and John Papa, outfielder Joe Gaines and catcher Larry Haney with Baltimore, infielder Harry Bright with the New York Yankees, second baseman Tony Taylor with Philadelphia, pitcher Tony Cloninger with Milwaukee, pitchers Larry Jaster, Jerry Wild and Dave Bakenhaster with St. Louis, first baseman Gordy Coleman with Cincinnati and outfielder Gino Cimoli with Kansas City.

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — Its computers, fast as they are, can be made to go faster, says Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

The company has announced a computer that will work 100 times as fast as those presently operating. The new method allows the switching operations, that occur when a number of circuits are fed into a single circuit at high speeds, to be performed in one and one-quarter billionths of a second.

Ranked DePaul Tops NIT-Bound Bonnies

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"If we had to lose to DePaul it's just as well we got beat now instead of in the NIT."

Maybe Larry Weise, coach of the St. Bonaventure college basketball team, didn't say those words Wednesday night, but he might have after the Bonnies lost to DePaul for the first time ever, 81-76.

It was a sort of preview of a possible rematch in next month's National Invitation Bonnies had accepted a bid to the NIT. DePaul, ninth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, had been named earlier this week.

The Blue Demons, beaten by the Bonnies 71-67 last season and in three other previous games, withstood a late rally by the Bonnies before 4,265 at their Alumni Gym in Chicago.

Behind by 11 points the Bonnies surged to within three points at 77-74 with two minutes left, but couldn't get any closer as DePaul converted four straight free throws.

In another game involving tourney-bound teams, Pitt, in the NIT, whipped Temple, in the NCAA, 78-67. Louisville, also in the NCAA, humbled St. Francis, Pa., 84-70.

Ohio Univ. edged Miami of Ohio 63-60 for the lead in the Mid-American Conference and Penn State defeated West Virginia 86-76 for its eighth straight victory in other games on the slim national program.

Weirton Brings 11-Game Winning Streak To MA Friday

★ ★ ★ Has Williams Cooled Off? ★ ★ ★

This hasn't been an exceptionally good month in the scoring column for Ron (Fritz) Williams, Weirton's super star, who will be making his appearance before a sellout crowd Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

The fact that Williams hasn't been on his usual form points out strongly that Weirton has more than one player. His teammates have taken up the slack on nights when Fritz hasn't been hitting so well or running into foul trouble and the Riders have won 11 straight games.

WEIRTON hasn't been defeated since Steubenville Big Red did it in December, 69-65, at the Community Arena. The Riders avenged this loss, 64-60, two weeks ago on the same floor.

To show you how well Weirton has come along as a team, in that first game with Big Red Williams tossed in 43 points, but Weirton lost. In the last game with Steubenville Fritz scored only 18 and left at the end of three quarters with five personal fouls, but Weirton won it by a four - point spread.

—:—

IN WEIRTON'S last contest Monday, Williams was held to 15 and had an off night, but the Riders extended their streak with a 56-50 win over a strong Wheeling Central five.

There's no doubt about it, Williams probably is the best cager ever to come out of West Virginia and could easily be acclaimed as one of the top high school players in the country.

The 6-2, two - time all-stater, who led Weirton to a state Class AAA championship last season, is averaging a little more than 30 points per game.

HE WENT over the 1,000-point mark last season and his career records show as a freshman he tallied 257 points in the regular season and 15 in the tourney. His sophomore year showed 341 in season play and 95 for the tournament. Last season was a big year for Fritz with 603 points, plus another 149 in tournament games.

His top effort for the season was 47 against Parkersburg. Other high spots include 43 against Big Red, 42 in the Wheeling game and 40 against Bellaire.

FRITZ was held to 11 in the Follansbee game and 15 Monday in the Wheeling Central contest for his low marks of the season.

Weirton will have the height advantage Friday night, with four starters hitting 6 feet or better. Ted Tomasovich, No. 2 scorer for the Riders, stands 6-3 and will be at one forward. Alvin Woodbury 6-6 will open at center, with guards Ed Harvard, a 6-foot speedster, and Dave Trimiar 5-10.

★ ★ ★ Stover Out Of Weir Game ★ ★ ★

Coach Jim Harris announced this morning that Randy Stover, the Potters' 6-4 pivot man, would miss Friday night's game with Weirton and may not be ready for Monday's tournament opener with Toronto.

—:—

STOVER has been bothered with flu and an extreme sore throat and was running a high temperature.

Harris pointed out the Potters will miss Stover who has shown much improvement and has become a scoring threat especially in the last half of the season. Junior Frank Taylor probably will replace Stover.

Sickness and bad weather interrupted the Potters' practice this week. Bob Forzano and Stover missed practice Tuesday and starters Frank McComas and Bill Hall showed up, but complained of being ill.

Few Tickets On Sale At MA Friday Night

A limited number of general admission tickets will go on sale Friday night at Memorial Auditorium before the Weirton-ELHS game which is a near sellout. Doors at the MA will open at 6:30 p. m.

Harris did not hold practice Wednesday when school was closed because of heavy snow.

East Liverpool came up with its best performance last week in a mild upset victory over Martins Ferry. The attack was the most balanced effort of the season, with McComas scoring 22, Forzano and Bob Maltarich 21 each and Stover 19.

McCOMAS and Forzano are running one - two as top scorers for the Blue and White. McComas is averaging 13.9 a game with 236 markers, while Forzano has 228 points and a 13.4 average.

The 86 points scored against Martins Ferry were the high for the season.

Friday's game with Weirton also will serve as a warmup for East Liverpool's tournament opener on Monday against Toronto at 8:30 at the Community Arena in Steubenville.

Ohio Takes MAC Lead, Tops Miami

By The Associated Press

Ohio University gained undisputed possession of first place in the Mid-American Conference Wednesday night by defeating Miami 63-60 and knocking the Redskins from the league's top rung.

The victory gave the Bobcats an 8-2 loop showing with two games remaining while Miami's record slipped to 8-3. The Redskins have one conference game left.

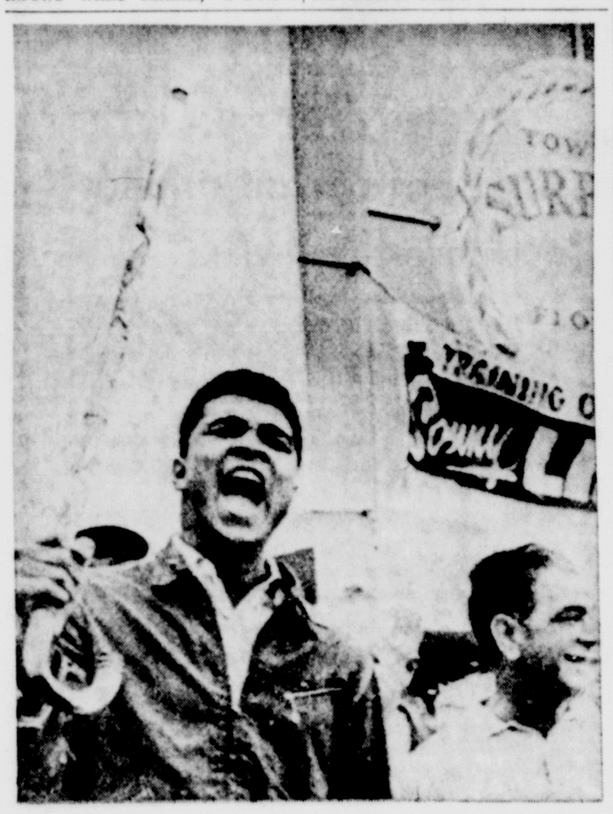
Ohio's final MAC games are against Kent State and Toledo, both on the Ohio U. floor. Miami's remaining contest against Toledo likewise is a home game.

The two teams were about as evenly matched as could be Wednesday night. Each hit 25 of 57 shots from the field. Ohio, however, cashed in 13 of 23 free throws while Miami, which missed several with the one-and one rule in effect in the crucial late stages, could muster only 10 of 19.

Jerry Jackson had 17 points and Don Hilt 16 for the Bobcats while Jeff Gehring of Miami led all scorers with 18.

Elsewhere, Central State downed Wilmington 87-61 after jumping off to an 18-3 lead. Ken Wilburn had 23 points and 18 rebounds to pace the Marauders, who now have won 21 games compared to only two setbacks.

In other games, Defiance nipped Adrian (Mich.) 83-82, Baldwin-Wallace topped Geneva (Pa.) 90-65; Fenn beat Case Tech 74-52; Mount Union downed Ashland 74-64, and Findlay rollover Malone of Canton 124-82 on the losers' court.



HEAVYWEIGHT challenger Cassius Clay waves a cane and shouts that he's waiting for the 'Big Bear.' Clay stood in front of Sonny Liston's training camp on Miami Beach Wednesday but Liston met Clay and the pair shook hands as the crowd expected a display of tempers. (UPI Telephoto)

Finley Must Answer American Loop Friday

BOSTON (AP) — The American League calls Charles O. Finley, recalcitrant owner of the Kansas City Athletics, on the carpet Friday.

The question that the league wants answered is:

Why hasn't Finley signed a lease with Kansas City so the A's will have a place to play this season?

The baseball season opens in less than two months. Spring training starts next week.

AL President Joe Cronin called the meeting last weekend after a second extension of the deadline for lease-signing expired Saturday night.

Originally, Finley wanted to move his club from Kansas City because of poor attendance. But he was turned down by the American League owners in his bid to shift his franchise to Louisville, Ky. The vote was 9-1. Finley was the only one voting for the shift.

Finley then insisted that he would sign a Municipal Stadium lease in Kansas City for two years. And for two years only.

City officials held out for a four-year lease.

Many meetings and much discussion by both sides and by attorneys failed to settle the differences.

The American League also has threatened to take Finley's franchise away from him—to kick him out of the league, in other words.

Finley replied that the league has no power to take his franchise and has threatened to sue the league for refusing him permission to move to Louisville.

Finley has retained attorney Louis Nizer for the threatened suit.

Frisco Halts Royals Long Win Streak

By The Associated Press

San Francisco's championship minded Warriors are receiving valuable aid from a couple of highly unexpected sources.

The Warriors have moved further ahead of their two Western Division challengers the past two nights, thanks to the National Basketball Association's cellar teams—New York and Detroit. San Francisco now leads second-place St. Louis by two games and third-place Los Angeles by 5½ games.

The Warriors stopped Cincinnati's 12-game winning streak 108-101 Wednesday night while last-place New York of the Eastern Division outscored St. Louis 120-114 and last-place Detroit of the West edged Los Angeles 116-115.

New York sneaked by Los Angeles Tuesday night 118-117.

In the other NBA game Wednesday night Philadelphia whipped Baltimore 130-122.

San Francisco used an unusual defensive maneuver in halting the league's longest winning streak of the season. Wayne Hightower, who normally plays up front, guarded Oscar Robertson, a backcourt man.

Robertson still scored 29 points, not a bad night even for the Royals' ace, but the move seemed to bother Cincinnati's offense at the start.

Nevertheless, the Royals recovered sufficiently in time to take a 59-57 halftime lead. Hightower, however, sparked a third-quarter spurt that put San Francisco ahead to stay. Hightower finished with 29 points while Wilt Chamberlain had 32.

New York, winning its second straight after nine consecutive losses, overcame a 15-point deficit and whipped the Hawks. A 12-point splurge in three minutes during the third period brought New York to within two points 84-82.

Bailey Howell's tip-in with 14 seconds remaining kept Detroit from setting a team record for losses in one season and knocked Los Angeles back another notch.

Howell's shot wiped out a Lakers' rally that brought them from a 96-86 disadvantage early in the final period to a one-point lead with 29 seconds left.

Philadelphia, paced by Chet Walker's 29 points, had little trouble with Baltimore. The 76ers scored 16 of the game's first 19 points, then rolled to a 69-54 halftime lead. Philadelphia scored 39 of its points in the opening quarter.

Denver Aide Goes To Skins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Bill McPeak reached into the "other league" today to hire a defensive backfield coach for the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

He signed Ed Hughes, who held the same job last fall with the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League. Hughes had coached the defensive backfield for another AFL team, the Dallas Texans, three seasons before that.

However, Hughes' playing experience was all in the NFL, first with the Los Angeles Rams and then with the New York Giants. He was a regular defensive back on two Eastern Division and one NFL championship team in New York.

Maybe Larry Weise, coach of the St. Bonaventure college basketball team, didn't say those words Wednesday night, but he might have after the Bonnies lost to DePaul for the first time ever, 81-76.

It was a sort of preview of a possible rematch in next month's National Invitation Bonnies had accepted a bid to the NIT. DePaul, ninth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, had been named earlier this week.

The Blue Demons, beaten by the Bonnies 71-67 last season and in three other previous games, withstood a late rally by the Bonnies before 4,265 at their Alumni Gym in Chicago.

Behind by 11 points the Bonnies surged to within three points at 77-74 with two minutes left, but couldn't get any closer as DePaul converted four straight free throws.

Fred Crawford with 25 points, nine of them in the late rally, led the boys from Olean, N.Y., Dave Mills topped DePaul with 22.

In another game involving tourney-bound teams, Pitt, in the NIT, whipped Temple, in the NCAA, 78-67. Louisville, also in the NCAA, humbled St. Francis, Pa., 84-70.

Ohio Univ. edged Miami of Ohio 63-60 for the lead in the Mid-American Conference and Penn State defeated West Virginia 86-76 for its eighth straight victory in other games on the slim national program.

PGA Is Sued By Builder Of New Club

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—A growing feud between the Professional Golfers Association and John D. MacArthur, salty multimillionaire builder of the new PGA National Golf Club headed Thursday toward a court decision.

MacArthur, head of the Bankers Life and Casualty Company of Chicago, and founder of Palm Beach Gardens, sued the PGA Wednesday charging that it had failed to execute a contract to buy the club.

MacArthur said he had spent more than $3 million building the club house and two 18-hole golf courses for the PGA, had more than a million coming back to him, and needed the PGA to move in and help him sell lots in Palm Beach Gardens, his development north of Palm Beach.

He claimed at a news conference that he had been stalled off in repeated attempts to get PGA officers to sit down with his attorneys and complete the contract.

Warren Cantrell, PGA president, reported that his organization was ready to fulfill the contract and take over the club whenever MacArthur could fulfill all building commitments and furnish clear title to the land.

Cantrell added that the PGA had just set up a conference with MacArthur's lawyers for next Tuesday to discuss the contract when it was hit with his lawsuit.

The battle flared as more than 400 golfers prepared to tee off Thursday over the new courses in the $30,000 PGA Seniors Tournament.

The first hint of trouble came last month when the PGA announced that several of its winter tournaments would be transferred from Palm Beach Gardens to Port St. Lucie, a golf resort north of here, because the new courses were not ready for competition.

MacArthur immediately got a circuit court injunction blocking the move and three of the tournaments have been played here.

Clash In House Looms Today On Military Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House clash was expected today over a $16.9-billion military authorization bill that includes funds for bomber and interceptor development which are opposed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The House Armed Services Committee, over McNamara's objections, added $92 million—$52 million for research on the bomber, the rest for the interceptor—to the huge authorization bill for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The dispute pits McNamara and his faith in missiles against the Air Force and the majority of the Armed Services Committee and their faith in manned bombers.

A fight on the House floor was signaled when four members of the committee filed a minority report opposing the addition of the funds. The four are Reps. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., and Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich.

These four fought last year against the committee when it authorized extra money—again not requested by McNamara—for the RS70 plane pushed by the Air Force.

Grambling Gains Ground In Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

Evansville's first place lead over Grambling was cut to a single point and Assumption's Greyhounds advanced two more places to fourth in this week's Associated Press small-college basketball poll.

Evansville polled five first places and 72 points in the balloting by a special panel of eight regional selectors. Grambling collected three votes for first place and 71 points. A week ago, Evansville had 72 points and Grambling 68.

Pan American remained in third place followed by Assumption, Washington of St. Louis, Hofstra, Kentucky Wesleyan, Youngstown, Wittenberg and Western Carolina.

Evansville defeated DePauw and St. Joseph's of Indiana last week for an 18-2 record. Grambling is 22-1 following victories over Texas Southern and Arkansas AM&N. Pan American lifted its mark to 20-4 by beating Steubenville and St. Edwards of Austin, Tex.

Assumption, from Worcester, Mass., climbed from sixth place on the strength of victories over Merrimack and Lemoyne that boosted its record to 14-1.

Roman Brother Wins Everglades In Florida Race

Roman Brother, Harbor View Farm's game little Florida-bred caught Mr. Brick to win the $30,550 Everglades Stakes Wednesday and virtually clinch his role as favorite for the $100,000-added Flamingo at the same 1⅛ miles distance.

The third biggest Wednesday crowd in Hialeah history—23,990—made Roman Brother the 1-2 choice and he made his record 6-2-1 in nine starts and his earnings $271,315.50 for owner Lou Wolfson of Miami Beach.

After Roman Brother and Mr. Brick in the Everglades came Journalist, Bupers, Prince Florimel, Sacred River, Big Felly and Rosie's Boy. All except Prince Florimel, Big Felly and Rosie's Boy are Flamingo nominees.

Central State's Barred By NAIA From Tourneys

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—Central State College has been barred by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics from participating in any postseason basketball games or tournaments.

Central State officials announced today they had received this word from Al Deur of Kansas City, executive secretary-treasurer of the NAIA. The ban was imposed because two ineligible players took part in Central State's first 14 games this season, the announcement said.

John Marsh, junior from Chicago, and Vaughan Graham, sophomore from New York, were expelled when it was learned they attended other colleges and falsified their records when they enrolled here, Central State officials said.

Central State has offered to forfeit any of the games it won while Marsh and Graham were on the team. The Marauders won 12 of the first 14 games and ironically have gone unbeaten since the two players departed. They now have a record of 21-2.

Common Pleas Court Judge Robert E. Cook ordered Wednesday that the sentences be served concurrently after denying Purday probation. Purdy had pleaded guilty to embezzling more than $11,000.

Woman Begins Term For Torturing Niece

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Jeanette Carr, convicted last May of torturing her niece, Frances Jean Carr, 19, has started serving a six-month sentence in the women's quarters of the Trumbull County jail.

Mrs. Carr had been free on bond pending an appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court, but the action was dropped. A Municipal Court judge imposed the sentence after a jury found Mrs. Carr guilty.

Grambling Gains Ground In Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

Evansville's first place lead over Grambling was cut to a single point and Assumption's Greyhounds advanced two more places to fourth in this week's Associated Press small-college basketball poll.

Evansville polled five first places and 72 points in the balloting by a special panel of eight regional selectors. Grambling collected three votes for first place and 71 points. A week ago, Evansville had 72 points and Grambling 68.

Pan American remained in third place followed by Assumption, Washington of St. Louis, Hofstra, Kentucky Wesleyan, Youngstown, Wittenberg and Western Carolina.

Evansville defeated DePauw and St. Joseph's of Indiana last week for an 18-2 record. Grambling is 22-1 following victories over Texas Southern and Arkansas AM&N. Pan American lifted its mark to 20-4 by beating Steubenville and St. Edwards of Austin, Tex.

Assumption, from Worcester, Mass., climbed from sixth place on the strength of victories over Merrimack and Lemoyne that boosted its record to 14-1.

Roman Brother Wins Everglades In Florida Race

Roman Brother, Harbor View Farm's game little Florida-bred caught Mr. Brick to win the $30,550 Everglades Stakes Wednesday and virtually clinch his role as favorite for the $100,000-added Flamingo at the same 1⅛ miles distance.

The third biggest Wednesday crowd in Hialeah history—23,990—made Roman Brother the 1-2 choice and he made his record 6-2-1 in nine starts and his earnings $271,315.50 for owner Lou Wolfson of Miami Beach.

After Roman Brother and Mr. Brick in the Everglades came Journalist, Bupers, Prince Florimel, Sacred River, Big Felly and Rosie's Boy. All except Prince Florimel, Big Felly and Rosie's Boy are Flamingo nominees.

Central State's Barred By NAIA From Tourneys

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—Central State College has been barred by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics from participating in any postseason basketball games or tournaments.

Central State officials announced today they had received this word from Al Deur of Kansas City, executive secretary-treasurer of the NAIA. The ban was imposed because two ineligible players took part in Central State's first 14 games this season, the announcement said.

John Marsh, junior from Chicago, and Vaughan Graham, sophomore from New York, were expelled when it was learned they attended other colleges and falsified their records when they enrolled here, Central State officials said.

Central State has offered to forfeit any of the games it won while Marsh and Graham were on the team. The Marauders won 12 of the first 14 games and ironically have gone unbeaten since the two players departed. They now have a record of 21-2.

Woman Begins Term For Torturing Niece

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Jeanette Carr, convicted last May of torturing her niece, Frances Jean Carr, 19, has started serving a six-month sentence in the women's quarters of the Trumbull County jail.

Mrs. Carr had been free on bond pending an appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court, but the action was dropped. A Municipal Court judge imposed the sentence after a jury found Mrs. Carr guilty.

Lloyd Replies He's In GOP At Wellsville

One of the new appointees to the Wellsville Civil Service Commission—Richard N. Lloyd—said today he is a Republican, answering reports from some GOP officials that he is a Democrat.

Lloyd, 335 1st St., was appointed to the commission by Mayor William Daugherty, who announced the selection Tuesday night along with the appointment of Donald Miller, a Democrat.

At least one Republican precinct committeeman had charged Lloyd is also a Democrat, alleging he had requested a Democrat ballot at the last primary election. Civil Service regulations require that both parties be represented on the commission.

Lloyd, questioned today on his political affiliations, said flatly he is a Republican. He said it is possible he had in the past obtained a Democrat ballot, but added, "I have a right to change my vote at a primary if I so desire."

He said he has leaned for years to the Republican Party.

Lloyd once served as an extra officer for the Wellsville police department, and is now employed at the Titanium Metals Corp. plant at Toronto. Ed Welch is the other member of the commission.

15 East Firemen Receive Training

Fifteen attended a training session of the Liverpool Township East volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

Two sections of booster line burned while the department battled brush fires last fall were replaced with new hose.

During brief business, it was announced that more bids are invited on furnishing the department with a 30-40-watt public address system. Several have been received so far.

Kenneth Ketchum suggested the department consider purchase of a pickup truck.

Lloyd Replies He's In GOP At Wellsville

One of the new appointees to the Wellsville Civil Service Commission—Richard N. Lloyd—said today he is a Republican, answering reports from some GOP officials that he is a Democrat.

Lloyd, 335 1st St., was appointed to the commission by Mayor William Daugherty, who announced the selection Tuesday night along with the appointment of Donald Miller, a Democrat.

At least one Republican precinct committeeman had charged Lloyd is also a Democrat, alleging he had requested a Democrat ballot at the last primary election. Civil Service regulations require that both parties be represented on the commission.

Lloyd, questioned today on his political affiliations, said flatly he is a Republican. He said it is possible he had in the past obtained a Democrat ballot, but added, "I have a right to change my vote at a primary if I so desire."

He said he has leaned for years to the Republican Party.

Lloyd once served as an extra officer for the Wellsville police department, and is now employed at the Titanium Metals Corp. plant at Toronto. Ed Welch is the other member of the commission.

Two sections of booster line burned while the department battled brush fires last fall were replaced with new hose.

During brief business, it was announced that more bids are invited on furnishing the department with a 30-40-watt public address system. Several have been received so far.

Kenneth Ketchum suggested the department consider purchase of a pickup truck.

Skids Blamed In 2 Crashes

A crash at 2:11 p. m. yesterday caused about $200 damage each to cars operated by Mrs. Cleda M. McDevitt, 50, 1184 Harker Ave., and Carmen L. Serafini, 31, of Steubenville, the sheriff's office said.

Serafini, headed north, was making a sharp bend just south of the Newell bridge when ice and slush threw his auto into the path of Mrs. McDevitt's southbound auto, deputies said.

No one was injured and no charges were filed, deputies said.

A 16-year-old Weirton youth escaped injury when his car skidded over an embankment and landed on its roof in King's Creek at 10:40 a. m. yesterday, deputies said.

Willard M. Jenkins said he was rounding a curve and applied his brakes but the car began skidding and plunged down the embankment.

Skids Blamed In 2 Crashes

Skids were blamed for two Hancock County traffic accidents Wednesday, one involving an East Liverpool woman.

A crash at 2:11 p. m. yesterday caused about $200 damage each to cars operated by Mrs. Cleda M. McDevitt, 50, 1184 Harker Ave., and Carmen L. Serafini, 31, of Steubenville, the sheriff's office said.

Serafini, headed north, was making a sharp bend just south of the Newell bridge when ice and slush threw his auto into the path of Mrs. McDevitt's southbound auto, deputies said.

No one was injured and no charges were filed, deputies said.

A 16-year-old Weirton youth escaped injury when his car skidded over an embankment and landed on its roof in King's Creek at 10:40 a. m. yesterday, deputies said.

Willard M. Jenkins said he was rounding a curve and applied his brakes but the car began skidding and plunged down the embankment.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The greatest little hint I have found is a way to save cigarettes, especially for the hostess who doesn't smoke but must have them for guests at dinner parties.

When I buy cigarettes and put them on my coffee table, any leftover cigarettes (after the guests leave, I wrap tightly in foil and put them in the freezer compartment of my refrigerator (or freezer).

They will not get stale!

Weeks or months later one can unwrap them and put back on the coffee table for your next guests.

JULIA BROWN.

DEAR HELOISE: Replying to the "Expectant Mother's" letter on what to purchase. . . the pamphlet, "Prenatal Care", published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, tells nearly everything an expectant mother would want to know (except whether the boy will be a boy or girl).

This pamphlet. . . Children's Bureau Publication No. 4—1962. . . is available for 20 cents from the Superintendent of Documents. U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D.C.

I also am expecting my first child, and have found this well-written, easy-to-read pamphlet an invaluable source of information.

FRANCES.

What if it's twins?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you ever spill water when you are putting it into your ice cub tray for freezing, resulting in only two-thirds filled trays, plus a mop-up job?

Try placing the tray in the freezer before filling. Then fill a long necked bottle (I use a syrup bottle) with water and pour this into the trays. The result will be a full cube tray and no mess.

MYRTLE H.

DEAR HELOISE: If little children are afraid to sleep without a light on at night. . . go to the dime store, buy some luminous stars and paste them on some cardboard.

The children will be happy when you turn the light off. . . they can see the stars glow in the darkness.

MOTHER OF FOUR.

-:-

This is a precious idea and wouldn't they be cute on the ceiling? One could use any luminous paper and cut stars, moons, rabbits etc.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: In applying the iron-on patches to any garment. . . such as the worn-out knees on little boys' slacks, etc. —I find it is helpful to place a piece of aluminum foil under the garment before ironing on the patch.

The foil not only concentrates the heat but eliminates any tendency of the patch to "stick" to the ironing board! The foil may be peeled off.

This saves sticky damage to your cover.

FRANCES DEEDS.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I heard someone mention that they used oil in cake mixes in place of other liquids and that it makes their cakes more moist. Have you ever heard of this or do you have any hints for using oil with the boxed mixes?

MRS. E. PRATH.

DEAR MRS. PRATH: I always ADD one-fourth cup of oil to any boxed cake I make! I NEVER use it IN PLACE OF liquids, or anything else.

Follow the directions on the box and try adding one-fourth cup of oil, but let me caution you. . . DO NOT use one-third cup as that is too much. One day I tried this and my cake fell all to pieces.

I find it does make a better cake and I know you will love it, too.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To those who have cream-type deorants, face cream, etc. . . when they start drying out on the top, turn them upside down and let them sit awhile and they will become pliable again.

MARY JANE.

Would Get Campaign Snowballing

Goldwater Sees Nearly 50% Of Hampshire Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edging out on a limb, Sen. Barry Goldwater predicts he will win close to 50 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire's primary and start his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination snowballing.

"If we can come out of New Hampshire with a decided victory," he told supporters in Rumney, N.H., Wednesday, "you have no idea what this is going to do for my candidacy over the rest of the United States."

The Arizona senator calculated that any candidate who captures 35 per cent of the vote in the March 10 primary and takes seven of the convention delegates would have "a definitive victory."

He voiced belief that he would run up almost 50 per cent.

Also campaigning through New Hampshire's snowy countryside Wednesday and today was one of Goldwater's chief rivals for the GOP nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Although the two haven't crossed paths so far in the Granite State, both are joined in whaling away at President Johnson's foreign policy.

"I think most Americans are a little sick today to think of the way the United States is being slapped around," is the way the Arizonan put it.

The New York governor said, "The American people are recognizing this dismal record and its frightening portent for the future for what it is—a formula for failure."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, another candidate in the state's primary, said she plans to return to New Hampshire's campaign trail this weekend.

Action Seen Unlikely Now On Decision About Districts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outside of some complaining and possibly a committee hearing for the official record, Congress isn't likely to do anything this year about the Supreme Court ruling that congressional districts should be more uniform in population.

"For one thing," a highly placed House Democrat said privately, "we just don't have time this year to deal with such a complicated subject. For another thing, most of us think it's none of our business how the states map out their districts."

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee long has advocated that Congress take the lead in trying to get more uniformity in congressional redistricting. He introduced a bill to do that more than a year ago but has been unable to obtain action in his own committee.

He said he would try again this year but wasn't optimistic about success.

Another proposal not expected to gain acceptance came from Texas congressmen. They are seeking legislation that supports the Supreme Court decision but preserves present districts until state legislatures can act in their regular sessions. Such a bill would prevent the 23 Texas congressmen from having to run at large this November.

A three-judge federal court at Houston has ruled the present Texas districts unconstitutional, but the decision has been stayed pending an appeal.

In New Haven, Conn., the Hartford Courant filed a suit in U.S. District Court that would force Connecticut's six congressmen to run at large this November unless the state is redistricted. The suit was filed in the name of Jack Zaiman, a political writer for the paper.

Connecticut districts range in population from 689,555 to 317,953.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: The greatest little hint I have found is a way to save cigarettes, especially for the hostess who doesn't smoke but must have them for guests at dinner parties.

When I buy cigarettes and put them on my coffee table, any leftover cigarettes (after the guests leave, I wrap tightly in foil and put them in the freezer compartment of my refrigerator (or freezer).

They will not get stale!

Weeks or months later one can unwrap them and put back on the coffee table for your next guests.

JULIA BROWN.

DEAR HELOISE: Replying to the "Expectant Mother's" letter on what to purchase. . . the pamphlet, "Prenatal Care", published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, tells nearly everything an expectant mother would want to know (except whether the boy will be a boy or girl).

This pamphlet. . . Children's Bureau Publication No. 4—1962. . . is available for 20 cents from the Superintendent of Documents. U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D.C.

I also am expecting my first child, and have found this well-written, easy-to-read pamphlet an invaluable source of information.

FRANCES.

What if it's twins?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you ever spill water when you are putting it into your ice cub tray for freezing, resulting in only two-thirds filled trays, plus a mop-up job?

Try placing the tray in the freezer before filling. Then fill a long necked bottle (I use a syrup bottle) with water and pour this into the trays. The result will be a full cube tray and no mess.

MYRTLE H.

DEAR HELOISE: If little children are afraid to sleep without a light on at night. . . go to the dime store, buy some luminous stars and paste them on some cardboard.

The children will be happy when you turn the light off. . . they can see the stars glow in the darkness.

MOTHER OF FOUR.

-:-

This is a precious idea and wouldn't they be cute on the ceiling? One could use any luminous paper and cut stars, moons, rabbits etc.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: In applying the iron-on patches to any garment. . . such as the worn-out knees on little boys' slacks, etc. —I find it is helpful to place a piece of aluminum foil under the garment before ironing on the patch.

The foil not only concentrates the heat but eliminates any tendency of the patch to "stick" to the ironing board! The foil may be peeled off.

This saves sticky damage to your cover.

FRANCES DEEDS.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I heard someone mention that they used oil in cake mixes in place of other liquids and that it makes their cakes more moist. Have you ever heard of this or do you have any hints for using oil with the boxed mixes?

MRS. E. PRATH.

DEAR MRS. PRATH: I always ADD one-fourth cup of oil to any boxed cake I make! I NEVER use it IN PLACE OF liquids, or anything else.

Follow the directions on the box and try adding one-fourth cup of oil, but let me caution you. . . DO NOT use one-third cup as that is too much. One day I tried this and my cake fell all to pieces.

I find it does make a better cake and I know you will love it, too.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To those who have cream-type deorants, face cream, etc. . . when they start drying out on the top, turn them upside down and let them sit awhile and they will become pliable again.

MARY JANE.

Would Get Campaign Snowballing

Goldwater Sees Nearly 50% Of Hampshire Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edging out on a limb, Sen. Barry Goldwater predicts he will win close to 50 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire's primary and start his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination snowballing.

"If we can come out of New Hampshire with a decided victory," he told supporters in Rumney, N.H., Wednesday, "you have no idea what this is going to do for my candidacy over the rest of the United States."

The Arizona senator calculated that any candidate who captures 35 per cent of the vote in the March 10 primary and takes seven of the convention delegates would have "a definitive victory."

He voiced belief that he would run up almost 50 per cent.

Also campaigning through New Hampshire's snowy countryside Wednesday and today was one of Goldwater's chief rivals for the GOP nomination, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Although the two haven't crossed paths so far in the Granite State, both are joined in whaling away at President Johnson's foreign policy.

"I think most Americans are a little sick today to think of the way the United States is being slapped around," is the way the Arizonan put it.

The New York governor said, "The American people are recognizing this dismal record and its frightening portent for the future for what it is—a formula for failure."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, another candidate in the state's primary, said she plans to return to New Hampshire's campaign trail this weekend.

Action Seen Unlikely Now On Decision About Districts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outside of some complaining and possibly a committee hearing for the official record, Congress isn't likely to do anything this year about the Supreme Court ruling that congressional districts should be more uniform in population.

"For one thing," a highly placed House Democrat said privately, "we just don't have time this year to deal with such a complicated subject. For another thing, most of us think it's none of our business how the states map out their districts."

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee long has advocated that Congress take the lead in trying to get more uniformity in congressional redistricting. He introduced a bill to do that more than a year ago but has been unable to obtain action in his own committee.

He said he would try again this year but wasn't optimistic about success.

Another proposal not expected to gain acceptance came from Texas congressmen. They are seeking legislation that supports the Supreme Court decision but preserves present districts until state legislatures can act in their regular sessions. Such a bill would prevent the 23 Texas congressmen from having to run at large this November.

A three-judge federal court at Houston has ruled the present Texas districts unconstitutional, but the decision has been stayed pending an appeal.

In New Haven, Conn., the Hartford Courant filed a suit in U.S. District Court that would force Connecticut's six congressmen to run at large this November unless the state is redistricted. The suit was filed in the name of Jack Zaiman, a political writer for the paper.

Connecticut districts range in population from 689,555 to 317,953.

"ANYONE"
With An Idea

122 West Fifth St. Next to Metz Furs, this home was used by a Doctor as his residence (upstairs) and his offices. It has an ideal arrangement for this purpose, waiting room, inner offices, etc., or could be used by a dentist, beauty operator, accountant, optometrist, etc. Its location and brick construction make its uses almost unlimited. There is a wonderful apartment upstairs with a bath and a half, plus a third floor with large rooms and finished but not now being used. It has a full basement with Bryant gas boiler giving hot water heat. At the rear there is an attached garage, brick walls, high ceilings, measuring 28½x53 feet. The garage too has fine possibilities if paneled and used separately. This property is owned by a lady who doesn't need this much space, and the price is reasonable.

"ANYONE"
With An Idea

122 West Fifth St. Next to Metz Furs, this home was used by a Doctor as his residence (upstairs) and his offices. It has an ideal arrangement for this purpose, waiting room, inner offices, etc., or could be used by a dentist, beauty operator, accountant, optometrist, etc. Its location and brick construction make its uses almost unlimited. There is a wonderful apartment upstairs with a bath and a half, plus a third floor with large rooms and finished but not now being used. It has a full basement with Bryant gas boiler giving hot water heat. At the rear there is an attached garage, brick walls, high ceilings, measuring 28½x53 feet. The garage too has fine possibilities if paneled and used separately. This property is owned by a lady who doesn't need this much space, and the price is reasonable.

Junior Editors Quiz on OPAL

ANSWER: Precious opal is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most unusual of gem minerals. There is a white, common kind which little value, but precious opal possesses the qualities which make a stone rank as a gem: beauty of color and rarity. This stone has a curious misty, milky color through which the light filters, resulting in sudden flashes of brilliant color, changing as one turns the stone. Multitudes of tiny gas bubbles trapped within the stone give the misty effect, and the brilliant flashes are caused by different inner structures which cause "interference" of light rays—which collide with each other, throwing out rainbow color effects.

In Roman days, opal was ranked second only to emerald and it was known as a "noble" stone. In the natural state, precious opal is found in such pieces as at upper left. It is not ground in many faces like diamond and other gems, but shaped-in smooth ovals, so the inner color may be most enjoyed. Gem opal comes from Australia, Japan, Mexico, Honduras, India, New Zealand and the western part of the U. S.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look in a jeweler's window and see if there is an opal there—it will probably be in a ring. Notice the misty effect and the flash of the colors as you move.

Police Hunt Man In Girl's Death

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Police searched today for a panic-stricken man who, they said, fled after learning an 18-year-old girl he brought to Alliance City Hospital died of a gunshot wound.

Sought in connection with the shooting Wednesday night was a 23-year-old man believed from Cleveland. The suspect, driving a white sports car, was described as 5-foot-5, about 140 pounds and wearing a white shirt and dark jacket.

The victim, Mrs. Matilda Winters, of Alliance, died in the hospital emergency room a short time after she was shot below the eye.

Hospital aides told police that the man who brought the girl in apparently panicked after learning she had died. He ran outside, jumped into his car and sped off in the direction of Cleveland.
